

Voter mandated increase in drinking age angers youth

By CARRIE YOUNG
ANP Staff Writer

It is cold outside, but inside the Hoffbrau Lounge, the music is good and loud, smoke is swirling through the air, and an emotional electricity is crackling through the moisture of dusk-to-dawn dancers.

Twenty-year-old Sherri Erickson of Westland is warm. She is glowing, and she is having fun.

Not for long though. Come Dec. 22, Sherri will be left out in the cold when the state begins its enforcement of the constitutional amendment raising the legal drinking age from 18 to 21.

Red cheeks and angry at the majority of voters who sanctioned the change, Sherri grumbles over knowing that she'll be denied entry into the Westland rock 'n' roll bar, which according to Hoffbrau owner Al Campbell, caters to primarily guys and gals under 21.

To Sherri and others of her peer group, the climb back to 21 is nothing but a "cheap trick."

"My only consolation is that I'll be turning 21 two weeks after the law goes into effect," Sherri said, "so I'll be celebrating hitting the legal drinking age twice."

New Years Eve, however, she'll not be flashing her smile in a disco, rock 'n' roll bar or night club. Annoyed she stares somberly into her glass of . . . water.

Campbell spent the first five minutes of his interview with Associated Newspapers maligning the new law and coming to the rescue of those under 21 by reciting the time worn contention that if one is old enough to be drafted and to go to war, then logically one is old enough to drink alcohol.

"I am working with other bar owners who are trying to fight this thing in court. We hope to stall it from going into effect on Dec. 22," Campbell said.

With approximately 60 percent of his crowd being under 21 years of age, he admits that he will have to change the format of his business. And with an alteration in the entertainment end of things, he said he would begin to cater to the over 21 set.

While he is empathetic to the younger set's cause, as a realist, and a businessman, he will "naturally" abide by the new law, if mandated to.

Curly-topped Lori Altenbach, 19, of Westland is a bar maid at Hoffbrau and, with the new law going into effect, she has some serious doubts over the longevity of her job.

"How can I stay here when I won't be able to sell liquor," she said. "Boy I hate this. You know I'm a real night person and all, and I hate the thought of having to go take a day job after having had a taste of this."

Four enthusiastic, less-than-excellent rock 'n' roll players on their second gig ever at the Funny Farm in Wayne recently were downright uptight about the imminent change in the law.

Three out of the four-member band, calling themselves 'Everest', are under 21 years of age.

Only out of the basement less than two months and just getting a taste of the trials and tribulations of staying in tune, drummer Marty Kosmowski, 18, thinks the change in the law is totally unfair.

"We're just starting to get good, too," said Kosmowski, grinning into the ever-watchful eye of Funny Farm bar owner Leo Speer.

Like Kosmowski, Speer doesn't quite understand the repercussions of the new law and isn't sure if he'll be hiring any bands under 21 years of age.

But then what will be the need for players under 21 when the clientele will swing to over 21?

"I guess I'll just have to start getting the older ones in here,"

Speer said. "But to tell you the truth, I like the younger ones better. They are easier to handle, they take pride in their person and they respect me more."

With 10 years in the business and knowing what the older crowd can be like, Speer says he would rather fight than switch, but concedes that to fight the new law probably will lead to failure.

Mr. Magoo's Disco Scene owner John Cabavatan sees the new law in a somewhat different light than Speers or Campbell.

Disco dancers are predominantly persons over 21, said Cabavatan, and unlike rock 'n' roll bar owners, his business will go relatively unaffected.

Cabavatan also noted that waving good-bye to the younger set will be of no large economic loss especially considering that those under 21 don't spend as much money on liquor per capita as do those over the new legal drinking age.

Santa's coming

Call all the children together and get ready for Santa's visit to Romulus City Hall Friday night. The jolly gent from the north will arrive for his annual Christmas stopover at 7 p.m. and has a lot of surprises for every good little girl and boy.

Santa Claus, who bears a strong resemblance to Fred (Junior) Block when he reaches Romulus, will officially receive the key to the city from Mayor William M. Oakley after the traditional Christmas tree lighting ceremony.

At the same time, the Civic Center buildings will burst into brilliant glow when the lights are turned on by Wendy Warner. Little Wendy, a local resident chosen by the Romulus Schools Special Services Department, will throw the switch that lights the city Christmas tree and decorations in the Civic Center Plaza.

After the outdoor ceremonies, Santa and his helper, Christmas Carol, will greet children downstairs in the community room of City Hall until 9 p.m. and distribute gifts of candy and fruit. They will also share a cup of hot chocolate and fresh donuts with everyone present.

Last year, a large number of people turned out for this special event which is sponsored by the Romulus Recreation Dept. It is the last special activity that wraps up a busy year.

All winter recreation programs will continue at the various schools until Christmas vacation and will resume Jan. 8, 1979.

Dec. 17 ceremony

Fire station opening to honor those gone

The mournful tones of Taps will be heard at the Grand Opening dedication of the new $500,000 fire department headquarters in Romulus.

Honoring all firefighters who have died in the line of duty, Taps will be played at the Dec. 17 ceremonies by the trumpeters of Romulus High School Marching Band while Boy Scouts of the Order of the Arrow raise the flag.

The new 7,700 square foot building, located at 28777 Eureka Road, will officially open its doors on that day with brief outdoor ceremonies and a guided tour of the building.

All Romulus residents are invited to attend the "Open House" festivities which begin with the flag-raising and ribbon-cutting ceremony at 2 p.m. The "Open House" will last from 2 to 5 p.m. and will include guided tours of the facility.

A variety of displays will be set up throughout the new fire headquarters building. Radio and life-saving equipment will be demonstrated by fire officials. The opening will also mark the end of the city-sponsored "Save-A-Life" smoke detector sale, a last chance to buy the valuable safety device for $8.95.

The occasion will mark the second grand opening of a major city building in as many months, following close behind the formal dedication of the 34th District Court on Oct. 29.

Local elected officials and department heads will join Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley at the Dec. 17 "Open House", but will share the spotlight with another well-known figure — Santa Claus. The jolly visitor from the north will be on hand greet area children and wish everyone best tidings of the season.

The public is cordially invited to attend and refreshments will be served.

Romulus senior citizens are well-known for the talents they display when it comes to working with arts and crafts. This Christmas, they are selling handmade Christmas items with the proceeds going to purchase new furniture for the proposed Drop-in Center. Shown with some of their wares are Agnes Croney (from left), Dot Icenogle, Amy Robertson and Julius Holstine. The items are on sale at the Drop-in Center, 36515 Bibbins St. from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily through Dec. 22. Also, a raffle is being held and five tickets can be purchased for $1. The drawing will be held at noon on Dec. 15 and you do not have to be present to win. More information can be obtained by calling the Drop-in Center at 941-0666, Ext. 67.

Qualifications modified

V.B. substitute teacher shortage will force lowered standards

A critical shortage of substitute teachers in the Van Buren Public Schools has caused the district to lower the educational standards required of substitutes, while increasing the pay.

Van Buren is experiencing the problem that has come to plague many school districts in the area. Teacher substitutes are in short supply, compared to the surplus of teachers several years ago.

The district first attempts to hire people who are fully certified but for whatever reason are not employed full-time, said Raymond Kohr, director of personnel.

The next category would be those people who were once certified but have since let their certification expire. The last group of people allowed to serve as substitutes without special permission from the State Department of Education, were those who had at least 120 semester hours of college credit with a minimum of six in education.

But since the district has been unable to recruit enough substitutes with those qualifications, applications are now being taken from those with lesser qualifications, based on a verbal permission from the state, said Kohr.

Applications will be considered from persons who have 120 hours but lack the previously required education courses, or have completed a minimum of 90 hours but are currently taking courses toward the completion of a degree.

Is Van Buren lowering its standards?

"We definitely are," admitted Kohr.

But, he added, the district needs to carry about 100 substitutes to insure that absences can be filled. Usually, assignments for those in the teacher substitute pool are for a day or two at a time, filling in for a teacher who is ill. There are 375 teachers in the district, and absenteeism can be from as little as four or five persons, to 35 to 40, on any given day.

Many times, too, the teachers who are on Van Buren's substitute list are also on call with several neighboring districts. The districts are actually in competition for their services, depending on who calls first, Kohr said.

In some ways, school districts were spoiled by the surplus of teachers in past years, and could afford to be choosy.

"For the past several years, we have had a surplus of teachers and subsequently, the state department was unenthusiastic about granting special permits to let those less qualified act as substitutes.

"Therefore, many of the people who would have liked to sub were turned away. That's why we want to get the word out now that we can accept applications from those who might not have been considered eligible before."

The reason for the teacher substitute shortage is a matter of conjecture, with various schools of thought, Kohr said. He added that he believes subbing used to be the way that teachers worked themselves into a full-time job. Now, however, declining enrollment and failure of millages means that very few new teachers are hired. Substitute teachers don't have the chance of full-time employment they once had.

So many are going into different occupations.

Also, universities are discouraging people from becoming teachers because of the past surplus, Kohr added.

The Van Buren schools has recently raised its substitute pay rate. It is $32 per day for the first 10 days of substituting, and $35 thereafter.

Kohr asks that if you are interested in serving as a substitute teacher under the new guidelines, contact the Van Buren Schools Personnel Office at 555 W. Columbia Avenue, or phone 697-9123.

Belleville's bonny lass

Deirdre dances her way to Ireland

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

Nine-year-old Deirdre Kathleen Sanders is not only learning about her heritage — she's living it, or rather, dancing it.

The young Belleville lass has danced her way into a trip to Dublin, Ireland, next spring to compete in the world championship of Irish dancing.

She finished in first place recently at the Mid-American Championship held in Cleveland, Ohio, where she danced "against" girls from six states to earn the top spot.

Deirdre is the daughter of Robert and Monica Sanders of Sumpter Road in Belleville.

Mrs. Sanders, whose parents were born and raised in Ireland, and who has relatives there, has used Irish dancing lessons as a way of passing on the heritage and traditions she holds dear. She will accompany her daughter to the world competition during Easter Week in the spring.

After the five days of competition, the pair will spend some time sight-seeing and visiting relatives.

Deirdre studies dancing with well-known instructor June Butler, who operates an Irish dance studio in Toronto but visits the Detroit Gaelic League once a week, on Sunday, to teach the Irish dancing class.

The ethnic dancing is quite a family affair for the Sanders'. Mrs. Sanders took lessons when a child, and Dierdre's sisters, Erin-bridget, 11, and Shannon, 7, both dance. Younger sister Megan-maureen, 2, will learn when she gets a bit older, Mrs. Sanders added.

"I think it is important for all kids to learn about their heritage," said the mother of the four daughters. "I was always involved because of my parents, and I'm passing it on to my kids. I hope they pass it on to their children."

Already, the oldest daughter has visited Ireland with Mrs. Sanders' mother.

The girls dance in various competitions, or "fies," all summer long all over the country. They also perform at the Irish Festival in Detroit and at various other shows throughout the year, Mrs. Sanders said.

She added that her husband, Robert, was born in England, and leaves the dancing and pursuit of Irish heritage to the ladies of the family.

Deirdre practices for about an hour a day, performing to music from records and tapes. There are basically two categories of traditional Irish step dancing, Mrs. Sanders explained. The young lass had to dance in both categories to capture her trophy in the regional competition. The first is a dance performed with soft shoes, similar to ballet slippers. Then, dancers don hard sole "jig" shoes for their second dance. Three judges rated each performer, with dancers competing in their own age groups.

Accompanying music is usually an accordion and fiddle.

In Ireland, Deirdre will be competing in the minor division, for youngsters under 11. Mrs. Sanders guessed that there should be about 175 girls competing in that category from the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Scotland and Ireland.

Deirdre's costume, designed by the young girl and her mother, is also steeped in tradition. Designs at the hem of the dress are replicas from the Bible translations of Irish monks. The back of the shawl on the dress carries Mrs. Sanders' father's family crest. And the lace on the collar of the dress is from her mother's wedding dress, Mrs. Sanders explained.

The dimpled Deirdre, with short chestnut curls and rosy cheeks, looks the part of the Irish lass, and hopes to bring the world championship back to the United States, and to Belleville.

Santa arrives Saturday

Saturday marks the day that Santa will make his entrance into Romulus and the hearts of Romulus children. Beginning this weekend, a host of Christmas activities are planned for residents. But the favorite activity of most children will be telling 'Old Whiskers' what they hope to find under the tree Christmas morning.

Sgt. Kitchens

By JIM BRADLEY

The Wayne Memorial High School senior walks across the platform and receives his coveted diploma.

Shortly afterward, he's on his way to sunny Hawaii as a law enforcement officer with all his expenses paid. He receives all his clothes free and doesn't have to pay a penny for his lodging. In addition, he gets all his meals free.

Sound too good to be true? Not if you've signed up for the "delayed entry" program with the local army recruiter in Metro Place Mall in Wayne.

The above example is a true story of a Wayne Memorial senior who is studying law enforcement now and chose to serve in the sunny climes of the tropical islands when he graduates next June.

Of course, not everyone can choose to go to Hawaii — and many would not want to take up residence there.

But the "new army" has an occupation and place for every young man and woman who wants to sign up for at least three years. With the new volunteer enlistment program, men and women between 17 and 34 can choose their vocation and location.

And it's all down in writing. That's to good part.

Before a young man or woman enlists, they get it spelled out in writing just what job they want to be trained for and where they want to serve. There have to be openings in the location they want to serve, but usually there is no problem at all in enlisting beingsent where they want to go.

"Personally, I think it's a great opportunity for young men and women today," said Staff Sgt. David A. Kitchens, local recruiter at the station in Metro Place Mall across from the Cozy Corner Snack Shop in Wayne.

"There's a written and physical test and if they qualify, they can get their choice of training for the type of work they want to do in the army. And they can choose their choice of duty station."

And Kitchens says it's all spelled out in writing.

"Before enlisting, they can know what training program they'll be in, where they'll go for basic training, what their assignment will be, and where they will serve," said the native of Houston, Tex., who has served in the army 12 years.

Married eight years, Kitchens and his wife, Vickie, have two children, Robert, 6, and Lori, 3, and live in Canton.

Due to litigation

State suspends order to desegregate school

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

Orders from the state school superintendent to desegregate a Wayne-Westland elementary school with a 46 percent black population have been suddenly and abruptly cancelled.

On Aug. 29, Dr. John Porter, superintendent of public instruction for Michigan, met with Dr. Timothy Dyer, superintendent of the Wayne-Westland Community Schools. Porter said that Vandenburg School in Wayne had been identified as "racially impacted" and the district would have to come up with a plan to desegregate it.

The school has about 300 students, with nearly half of the student population non-white. Across the district, there is only a 2 percent minority population.

A policy dictated by the state department of education labelled as racially impacted any individual school that exceeded the district-wide minority percentage by more than 15 percent. Even with the 15 percent variance, Vandenburg is far above the norm in number of blacks.

Porter at that time gave the district 90 days to come up with a desegregation plan. However, Porter reversed his demand in a letter to the school district dated Nov. 9.

The letter stated: "It has come to my attention that your school district is a party in pending desegregation litigation. Thus, pursuant to the 'Guidelines for Providing Integrated Education Within School Districts' adopted by the State Board of Education, no further action on your part is requested by this agency at this time."

Wayne-Westland, which had originally turned Porter's request over to attorneys, consider the matter now closed.

All along, the district denied any intentional segregation, saying that the large minority population at Vandenburg resulted from construction of a housing project very close to the school well after the attendance boundaries for the school had been set. They, therefore, called the racial pattern "de facto segregation" because the racial imbalance came about as a result of housing construction not under the control of the district.

Dr. John Dobbs, assistant to Supt. Porter, explained what was meant in the letter, claiming that Wayne-Westland was being excused because of pending desegregation litigation.

That litigation dates back to 1970, when the Detroit Public Schools and all suburban communities were named in a segregation suit, the same suit that eventually brought about the Detroit busing program now in effect.

The suit originally included Detroit and the suburban communities, although the suburbs eventually were dropped from the action. However, theoretically, the suit could someday be revived against the suburban school districts and that makes the suit "pending." Dobbs explained that the attorney general was consulted by Porter, and told that legally Wayne-Westland and the other suburban communities would still be considered to be part of the litigation. Dobbs said the state education department does not go into districts with such desegregation demands if the district is involved in a desegregation lawsuit.

Chances that the 1970 suit will ever be resurrected against the suburban communities appear to be slim, so it looks like "nobody's going to prosecute" anybody, Dobbs said.

John Weaver, the attorney of the Detroit law firm Butzel, Long, Gust, Klein and Van Zile, who has been advising Wayne-Westland on the issue recently and in the past, called the issue "dormant, but not dead."

He said he considers Wayne-Westland to have a "clean bill of health" on the issue.

According to Wayne-Westland Deputy Supt. Dennis O'Neill: "until we get further direction, that's the end of it."

Money, money...

For Mike Curis, collecting the exotic monies of the world was something he fell into several years ago. Starting out with an English pound note, the owner of the Elias Brothers Restaurant on Merriman Road in Romulus has expanded his collection to more than 300 bills and 400 coins, all given as tender during the course of the business day, or as gifts from customers who admire his collection. Showing off his money, displayed in the lobby of the restaurant, is Curis (right) and Albert Ina, manager.

In the armed forces

Currie participates in Mediterranean cruises

Navy Aviation Structural Mechanic 2.c. David R. Currie, the son of Samuel C. and Majorie D. Currie of Hannan Road, Romulus, recently returned from an extended deployment in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is assigned to Attack Squadron 83, based at Cecil Field Naval Air Station at Jacksonville, Fla.

During its 6½ month deployment aboard the aircraft carrier USS Forrestal, the squadron participated in several training exercises with other Sixth Fleet units and those of Allied nations, including the major NATO exercises "National Week XXV", "Open Gate" and "Display Determination". Port visits were made to several Mediterranean coastal cities.

A 1974 graduate of Romulus High School, Currie joined the Navy in April 1975.

Also in the armed forces:

Navy Gunner's Mate Seaman Appren. Gregory A. Phillips, the son of Bedford and Alberta Phillips of Willow Road, Belleville, has graduated from Basic Gunner's Mate School.

During the 16-week course at the Naval Training Center in Great Lakes, Ill., he received an introduction to the weaponry currently installed aboard Navy warships. He studied the operation and maintenance of missile and rocket launching systems and naval guns, including the electrical, mechanical and hydraulic systems of each. Additionally, they studied the use and safe handling of ammunition, fuses and pyrotechnics. He joined the Navy in February 1978.

Marine Pfc. Gary D. Crowe the son of Charles Crowe of Harrison Street, Romulus, has been meritoriously promoted to his present rank upon graduation from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, Calif. He received the early promotion for his superior performance during all phases of the nine-week training cycle, which emphasized physical conditioning, self-discipline and teamwork.

He joined the Marine Corps in July 1978.

Navy Cryptologic Tech. 2.c. Delmar D. Balke Jr., whose wife, Laura, is the daughter of Lawrence E. and Margaret B. Hillmer of Willis Road, Belleville, has reported for duty at the U.S. Naval Security Group Activity at Edzell, Scotland. He joined the Navy in February 1975.

Marine Lance Cpl. John D. Braithwaite, the son of John W. and Virginia M. Braithwaite of Harrison, Romulus, has reported for duty with the 3rd Marine Division on Okinawa.

A 1975 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, he joined the Marine Corps in December 1975.

Patrons help restaurant's currency collection to grow

Currency from throughout the world, comes in all shapes and sizes. There are Dutch guilders, English pounds, German marks, American dollars and French francs, not to mention Greek drachmas, Spanish pesetas and Colombian pesos.

And there's one place in Western Wayne County where more than 300 bills and 400 coins from foreign countries are on display... And it's not a bank.

It was two years ago that Mike Curis, owner of the Elias Brothers Restaurant on Merriman Road in Romulus, began collecting the exotic currencies of the world.

It seemed only natural, since his eatery is located near Detroit Metropolitan Airport. Travelers daily stop by the restaurant, bringing with them not only a hearty appetite, but money from around the world.

Curis began his collection with an English pound note. Now there are three boards in the restaurant's lobby showing off his "funny" money. But what makes the collection unusual is that every piece of currency has come from customers, either in the course of business, or as a gift.

In fact, many of the bills were given by foreign tourists who first saw the display, then wanted to leave behind an example of their country's money.

"Once we had a group of Japanese men come in for lunch," Curis said. "They couldn't read English, but fortunately, our men has full-color pictures of the selections, so they could point to what they wanted."

"When they left, the gentlemen were so grateful for all of our help, they gave us some Japanese yen to add to our collection."

Money has even come through the mail.

"A young couple from California stopped in and were fascinated by our collection," Curis added. "About three weeks later, they mailed us some money from Nigeria four our display."

Curis also has a story about the beautifully colored bill from New Zealand.

"Two delightful, elderly ladies came into the restaurant. When they saw our collection, the ladies asked why my display didn't include any money from New Zealand. They told me, 'You must take a bill from our country; our money is so beautiful.'"

"Then they explained to me about the different denominations. 'Each bill is a different color. That's very good for us because we have a little trouble reading the numbers.'"

Area residents won't have any trouble recognizing at least one bill in the show cases. Centered among all the intriguing and exotic currencies is a prominently displayed American dollar.

"One day a customer stopped and told me that we had every bill on our boards except the most beautiful of all. She gave me a U.S. Silver Certificate."

"I decided to put it in the center of our display as a way of saying 'Thanks' to all our customers."

"After all, it's their collection."

WCCC has labor studies program

A new program in labor studies will be inaugurated at Wayne County Community College with the start of the winter term in January 1979.

Students may earn a certificate in the program upon completion of 30 semester hours and two electives, or an associate degree upon completion of 60 semester hours and fulfillment of the liberal arts requirements of the college.

All credits earned toward the labor studies certificate, or associate degree, are transferable to the Weekend College of Wayne State University, and can be applied toward the bachelor of general studies from that institution.

"The new labor studies program at WC3 offers another avenue by which we, at the college, are attempting to meet the educational needs of the diverse population of Wayne County," said WC3 President Dr. Reginald Wilson. "It is certainly appropriate in an area which is as highly industrialized as the Detroit metropolitan region to have a program which offers educational opportunity to workers, as they seek to achieve individual goals and also meet union and civic responsibilities."

Labor studies classes may be arranged at union halls, community centers, and other locations convenient to students. They also will be offered at WC3 centers throughout Wayne County.

Core courses include Union

Structure and Administration, Employment and Labor Law, Collective Bargaining in the Public Sector, Contract Administration and Grievance Procedure, Principles of Arbitration, Discrimination in the Work Force, Skills for Effective Union Participation and the History of American Labor.

There also is a wide range of elective courses of interest to labor studies students available at the college.

Tuition for all academic classes at WC3 is $14 per credit hour for residents of the WC3 service district and $18 per credit hour for out-of-district residents. There are no special entrance requirements for persons 18 years or older.

Questions about the labor studies program may be directed to Judy Martin, Labor Studies Program, Wayne County Community College, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit 48201, or at 832-2415.

Award panel named

Congressman William D. Ford has announced the appointment of a citizens committee to select the winners of his third annual Medal of Merit for Outstanding Youth.

The awards will be available in each of the 21 communities in the 15th Congressional District which Ford, a Democrat, represents. One will be for boys and girls 14 through 18 years, or still seniors in high school, and the other will be for high school graduates, or those 18 through 22 years of age.

The medals will be presented to the winners by Congressman Ford at a special ceremony in late April or early May. Deadline for nominations is March 1.

Nomination forms are available in the city or township clerk's offices in the 15th District, as well as from members of the citizens committee and Ford's District Office in the Wayne Post Office Building.

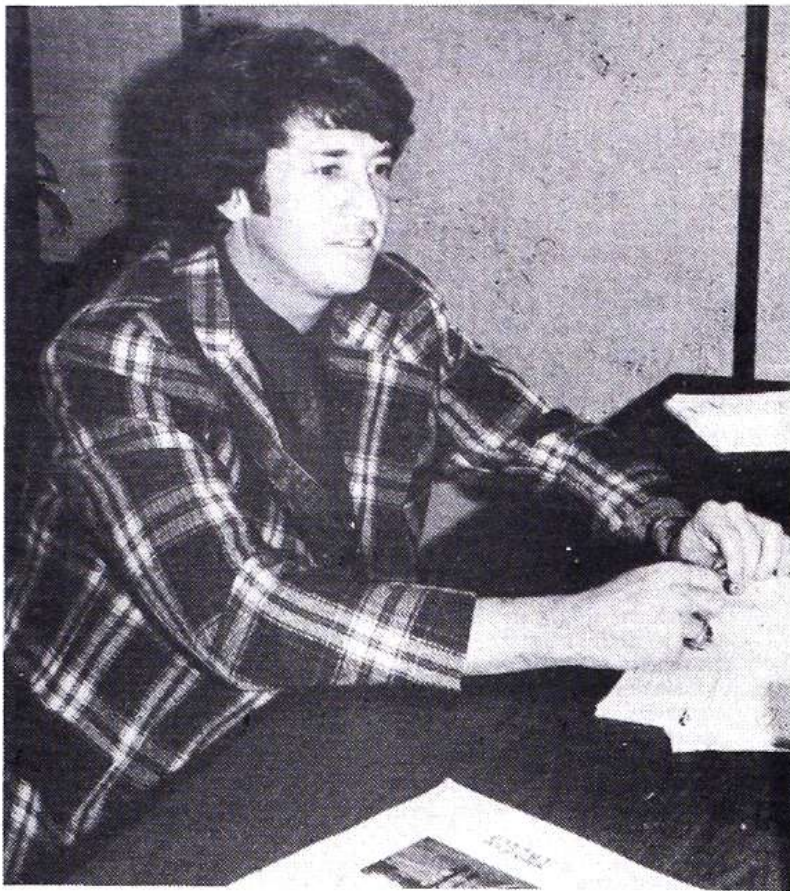

Heading this year's citizens committee are Bernadette Plunkett of Dearborn Heights and Ernest Lyons of Inkster.

Serving on the citizens committee are Adolph Jedryczka of Ash Township-Carleton, Stella Adams of Belleville, Nick Galovich of Brownstown Township-Flat Rock, Doug Ritter of Canton Township, Elaine Mueller of Garden City, Frank Weiss of Gibraltar, Sophie Kuchaczzyk of Huron Township, Stephanie Homenik of Livonia, Donald MacGregor of Rockwood, Patricia Cadden of Romulus, Jim Morgan of Southgate, Girtha Folks of Sumpter Township, Beverly Runge of Taylor, Imogene Pence of Van Buren Township, Tom McKay of Wayne, Cathy Shivers of Westland and Gene Palmer of Woodhaven.

"The committee has decided on the same basic ground rules for judging criteria that was established in the bicentennial year, when the awards program was first announced," Ford said. "The accomplishments on which the selection will be based must be both outstanding and meaningful."

"They should not be based primarily on scholarship, athletic ability or organizational membership, nor should they be something for which the nominee has received financial payment."

"Recognizing that not all people are leaders, but make significant contributions to their communities in other ways, consideration also will be given to nominees who have contributed time and effort toward meaningful projects."

At the helm

Mike Gouin, 35, is coming and going. In between he is trying to build a recreation program for the township of Canton much like what he made materialize in the city of Wayne, but only at a larger scale in Canton. His hopes for Canton are many. One of his main concerns is that the township pick very carefully the vacant lands it desires for future recreation use before the private land developers beat the township to it.

What's for lunch?

Corn dogs, fish and chips and hot meat loaf sandwiches with gravy will be but a few of the entrees that will be served in the cafeterias of the Van Buren public schools next week.

In the elementary schools the menu Monday will be corn dogs on sticks or tostitos, french fries, fruit, chilly things and milk, while slated for Tuesday will be soup, bacon, lettuce and tomato on a submarine sandwich buns, pudding, fruit and milk.

Next Wednesday the cafeterias will be serving juice, pizza, salad, vegetable or cole slaw, cobbler and milk.

Next Thursday's menu will be juice, beef turnovers, and mashed potatoes with gravy, cookies and milk, while closing out the week will be a menu of macaroni and cheese or beef-O-roni, vegetable, bread and butter, fruit Jell-O, cake and milk.

At Savage, West Willow and Quirk Elementary schools, the family-style lunch program will include a menu of sloppy joes, french fries, cole slaw, peaches and pineapple, chilly things and milk Monday.

Tuesday's menu will be beef-O-roni, buttered beets, corn, white or wheat bread and butter, fruit cocktail, Jell-O and milk, followed by a menu of pizza, mixed fruit and pears, tossed salads with french dressing, cake and milk next Wednesday.

Next Thursday the bill of fare will be tacos, with side dishes of tator tots, pudding, apples, milk and lemon drink.

Rounding out the week will be a menu of fish and chips with tartar sauce, french fries, coleslaw, celery and radishes, rolls and butter, fruit Jell-O and milk.

In the junior and senior high schools, the menu Monday will be pizza or chili and cheeseburgers on a large bun, juice, tossed salads, corn, french fries, milk or a cold drink, followed by Italian spaghetti with meat sauce or Coney Island foot-logs, tossed salads, hot garlic bread, peaches, french fries, fruit Jell-O, milk or a cold drink on Tuesday.

Next Wednesday the cafeterias will be serving barbecued beef on buns or grilled ham and cheese sandwiches, soup, french fries, green beans, pineapple milk or a cold drink.

Next Thursday's lineup will include hot meat loaf sandwiches with gravy or Belleville burgers, carrots, french fries, peaches, mashed potatoes and gravy, cake milk or a cold drink.

Topping off the week will be a menu of clam rolls with tartar sauce or bacon, lettuce and tomato on large buns, juice, french fries, mixed fruit, coleslaw, milk or a cold drink.

Gouin tries to give Canton recreation its own identity

By CARRIE YOUNG
ANP Staff Writer

Hindsight and foresight go together like bread and butter. They also make for well-thought-out decisions. At least that's the theory Mike Gouin is counting on.

Gouin, former assistant recreation director of Wayne for nine years and now recreation superintendent of Canton Township, has plenty of both ingredients and plans to put them to use in Canton.

In retrospect, the 35-year-old Wayne resident recalls when Wayne lacked an identity. After nine years of recreational development he says the voids are pretty much filled, giving a sense of unity and identity to the community.

Canton, much like Wayne was nine years ago, is a new challenge to Gouin, but on a larger scale than Wayne.

"Canton is a lot like Wayne used to be. It has very limited facilities," Gouin said, "even less than Wayne did back then."

But Canton has acres upon acres of land that is accessible to the township government which lends promise to the township's future, he said.

"But it's got to be bought now or pretty soon like Wayne did. They now have the results in a good portion of its community with neighborhood parks," Gouin said.

Wayne went from a community with a small recreation hall — much like Canton's senior citizen's hall on Sheldon Road and Michigan Avenue — to a city with a large Community Center, complete with racquetball, tennis courts, swimming pools and a health spa and club.

While land is costly, the price only goes up as time goes on, he noted, and those with "tunnel vision" seeing only the high cost of land today as the determining factor in rejecting land purchases, should never expect to fill their community with recreation and relaxation, resort-like facilities.

"But it is obvious that Canton is missing a lot," he said.

Gouin said unlike Wayne, Canton doesn't receive top priority from the school system in regards to utilizing its recreational facilities. While Wayne has a system where the government is second on the list — only edged to second by the school system itself — Canton falls to No. 4 and is bunched in with every other recreation and civic organization on the books.

That is all the more reason to start Canton's own programs, he said.

While Wayne, a smaller community than Canton, could get by on having one central recreation center, Canton would have to look for several community centers in its long-term growth, he added.

With them appropriately and geographically spaced, he said the proposal to purchase Sheldon School located on Geddes Road in Canton's southern half has much merit.

Purchasing the nine acres of land — the going price being $225,000 — could be a worthwhile venture, if one keeps in mind that it should only service a part of the community ultimately.

Another hope Gouin has is to have history repeat itself and start-up a tri-community therapeutic recreation program for the handicapped in maybe the Plymouth and Canton townships. The idea comes from the Wayne, Westland and Garden City effort which is touted as being one of the finest municipally supported therapeutic programs in the state.

A pet project of Gouin's is to eventually engineer a "main attraction" in Canton that would bring visitors from all around.

A rodeo? Could be, says Gouin.

After all Canton has the open spaces like no other community in the area possesses, and with a community attitude plainly positive to outdoors and the existing countrified look, residents romping about at a rip-roaring rodeo is not far out of the realm of reality.

All that seems to be needed is a master plan, a decision on farmland preservation, roping in lots of big bucks, government sanctioning and support and residents eagerness to participate.

"Well it's a thought... for right now," Gouin said.

NSPE conducts contest

The National Society of Professional Engineers and the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers are offering engineering scholarships for eligible high school students.

The scholarship awards will vary, with the maximum amount being $14,800 for a complete 4-year program.

To be eligible high school students must rank in the upper one-fourth of their high school class, or be otherwise recommended by their principal; plan to enroll in and continue the study of engineering at an accredited Engineers Council for Professional Development college or university; and be a citizen of the United States or plan to become a naturalized citizen.

During the 1977-78 scholarship programs, Michigan high school students received four scholarships from the national society and 21 from the Michigan society.

Applications for scholarships must be received by no later than Dec. 10 to be eligible.

For additional information, contact the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers state headquarters, 215 N. Walnut, Lansing 48933.

Law protects auto servicing

(This is one of a series of public service articles explaining, in general terms, a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult with a private attorney.)

By Att. Gen.
Frank Kelley

Michigan's Motor Vehicle Service and Repair Act gives you important rights which you should know and use when your automobile or other vehicle needs repair.

First, if the repair will cost more than $20 when you drop off your vehicle, you are entitled to a written estimate, itemizing the cost for labor and parts necessary to perform the repairs you have requested. If the repair facility you have chosen does not wish to give you the written estimate, it must obtain a signed waiver from you, authorizing the repairs up to a designated dollar amount.

The law provides that without your permission, a repair facility cannot exceed the written estimate it gave you by more than 10 percent or $10, whichever is less. Similarly, the facility cannot exceed the amount listed in the waiver. If a repair shop tries to charge you more than this, you are under no obligation to pay the excess. However, the mechanic can take back the parts installed without your approval. The law does allow a repair facility to call you and get permission to go over the estimate or amount agreed upon in the waiver. It is not necessary that you give this approval for additional expenses in writing.

When you pick up your vehicle, you are entitled before paying for the repairs, to a repair invoice containing a statement of the repairs you requested and authorized, and the repairs needed, as determined by the facility. It must contain the original repair cost estimate, as well as the actual cost and it must list in detail each part replaced, explaining whether the part put in was new, used, rebuilt or reconditioned and the cost of the part. Finally, it must contain the name of the mechanic who performed the repairs and certify that the repairs were completed properly. If a requested repair was not done, your invoice must explain why.

Also, at the time you pick up your vehicle, the mechanic must give you the old parts which were replaced. The only exceptions to this rule are if the parts are extremely large — such as a transmission or engine block — or there is a core charge for the old part which you do not want to pay — such as old brake shoes which are traded in for credit by the garage to its parts supplier, who later has them rebuilt. Even in these cases, you must be offered the opportunity to inspect these parts.

Finally, you should be certain that when you visit a repair facility that it has its state registration on display. This is your assurance that the facility's mechanics are certified and that the States Bureau of Automotive Regulation is available to assist you with any complaint about the repairs to your vehicle.

Complaints should be directed to the Department of State, Bureau of Automotive Regulation, 208 N. Capitol Avenue, Lansing 48918.

COMMISSION ORDER

(under authority of Act 165, P.A. 1929 and Act 230, P.A. 1925 as amended)

STATEWIDE TROUT AND SALMON REGULATIONS

The Natural Resources Commission, at its meeting on July 14, 1978, under the authority of Act 165, P.A. 1929, as amended, and Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended, ordered that for a period of five years beginning January 1, 1979, no person shall take or attempt to take any species of trout or salmon from any of the waters of this state except by hook and line during the open seasons prescribed, and within the minimum size limits and maximum possession limits indicated below.

Statewide open seasons on all streams and designated trout lakes shall be from the last Saturday in April through September 30 (longer on waters designated by the Director for extended fishing under Act 165) on all trout and salmon. Statewide open seasons on all other inland lakes and the Great Lakes shall be any time for all trout and salmon. Size limits shall be 8 inches on Lower Peninsula streams, 7 inches on Upper Peninsula streams, and 10 inches on lakes. The daily limit for trout and salmon shall be 5 fish singly or in combination but no more than 3 lake trout or splake.

An additional 5 brook or brown trout may be taken from streams from the last Saturday in April through September 30 only.

First test by board

Canton Chamber irked by sign ordinance vote

Better safe than sued. Prudent was the attitude of the Canton Township board in their first major decision since taking their oaths of office Tuesday night. They re-adopted the 1975 sign and berm ordinance.

Due to recent finding by Trustee Gene Daley, that hinted that the ordinance may have been illegally adopted in 1975 because of a discrepancy in the publication notices, board members by a 6-1 vote agreed to re-enstate the ordinance's validity.

For reasons unclear to the township board and to many in the audience, critical and harsh objections were raised against the re-adoption action by the Canton Chamber of Commerce.

Even though the four-year-old ordinance has been in effect through two township administrations, merchants lashed out at the board for "pushing it through after all this time" without study and discussion.

The ordinance has been much touted by the residential sector for its restrictiveness on the size, types and number of signs legally permitted within the township.

But aside from the controversial content of the ordinance—Supervisor Noel Culbert said the township was obligated to protect the community as a whole by making certain it has an ordinance to work from.

"I don't want you to think we're trying to ramrod anything through, because clearly we're not trying to do anything of the sort," Culbert said. "This has absolutely nothing at all to do with the proposed, new sign ordinance we're working on."

The proposed sign ordinance is intended to ultimately be adopted and to bring about a calming compromise of the 1975 restrictions.

Culbert explained that the township board acted in good faith. A Dec. 4 special study session is still scheduled to develop a compromise ordinance, and the only reason for board action on the existing ordinance is to avoid any possible litigation. "We're not trying to hurt you tonight," said Culbert.

Bill Tessian, manager of Wayne Bank and spokesmen for the business community then interjected with: "Oh no no, not tonight you're not. But you will, and we'll get our turn, we'll get you back," Tessian said.

He argued that the township board was re-adopting an ordinance that might be invalid and that it should rely on the 1965 ordinance until a court rules either that the 1975 ordinance is legal or to be voided.

Until the 1975 ordinance, the township virtually was without any regulations limiting the business community's activities in regards to sign displays.

Repeatedly Culbert and fellow board members tried to stave off the assaults made by the disgruntled business community, but to no avail.

Trustee Robert Greenstein said that the preventive measure on the township board's part may prove to be a piece of paper that could forestall costly lawsuits.

"Say you go out and buy a $2,000 sign and erect it because you don't think we have a legal ordinance to stop you," Greenstein analyzed. "So then you're given a ticket from our ordinance department stating that you're in violation of our existing 1975 ordinance and you must appear in court."

"Well it is almost certain that because the ordinance had been in effect so long and recognized as being valid, that a judge would rule against you and say that your $2,000 investment must be taken down," Greenstein added.

Culbert speculated that if all goes accordingly, the proposed sign ordinance should be adopted by the first of next year. He said he is shooting for adoption in the month of January.

Dissenting was Trustee Gene Daley who said that he did not have any correspondence from the township administration about the matter until the meeting when the vote was taken.

Daley contends that the ordinance is invalid and said earlier, in an interview with the Canton Eagle, that one way to resolve the matter would be to allow merchants to take the township to court. "That's one way of getting this whole thing out in the open," said Daley.

Deadline of Jan. 12 announced in banking firm's writing contest

High school seniors in 15 Western Wayne County School districts should sharpen their pencils. The deadline for entries in the eight annual Standard Federal Savings Scholarship Award Essay Competition is Jan. 12.

The program, established to assist senior students in pursuing education or training beyond the high school level, has as its theme, "The Role of Education in Our Lives".

The Jan. 12 deadline is for submission of the winning school essay in the Cherry Hill, Crestwood, Garden City, Huron, Inkster, Lincoln Consolidated, Milan, North Dearborn Heights, Plymouth, Romulus, Van Buren, Westwood, Ypsilanti, Willow Run and Wayne-Westland districts.

The winner will receive a $1,000 scholarship, which may be used at the educational institution of his or her choice for tuition, room and board or similar educational fees and expenses. Second- and third-place winners will receive $500 and $250 respectively and participating school winners also will receive prizes.

Judges are members of the Olivet College administrative staff and faculty. Kenneth G. Hance, retired chairman of the speech department at Michigan State University and retired assistant to the president of Olivet College, will chair the Award Committee.

Teacher and counselors in the 15 school districts have been supplied with complete details of the competition. All individual school winners and the grand prize winners will be honored at a scholarship dinner to be given by Standard Federal Savings next spring.

Wins award

Chuck A. Bullock (center), a student at Belleville High School, recently accepted an award of merit from Dr. Stephen R. Davis (second from left), dean of the School of Engineering at Lawrence Institute of Technology, for high achievement on the National Engineering Aptitude Search test. On hand to congratulate Bullock were Belleville High School assistant principal Bruce J. Romant (far left); physics teacher John Preston (second from right); and Richard Dokas, co-advisor of the Belleville HS Honor Society. More than 250 students took the test at LIT in the spring of 1978, and the college recently presented the top 11 scorers with special achievement awards.

Some residents voice support for foster home

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

A third public hearing on a proposed adult foster care facility for six mentally retarded men, planned on Hunter Street in Westland, brought more of the same opposition, confusion and emotion to the Westland City Council chambers Monday night.

There was one new feature to this meeting, however, and that was the expressed support for the home by a handful of residents.

Mrs. Francis Nieckarz of Tomahawk Street was critical of her neighbors who oppose the group home and urged the residents to "admit" that their opposition is based in a fear of the retarded. She labelled as a "cop-out" the argument put forth by opponents, who say they are worried that the neighborhood children will harass the retarded residents.

"How are we raising our kids?" she asked. "You can't teach them one thing and then not practice what you teach."

"How can we condemn a place that hasn't even been tried yet?" Mrs. Nieckarz has been visiting her neighbors and asking them to write or call the council to tell of their support for the home, but she said that many people who accept the proposal are reluctant to say so at a public meeting.

"People are afraid to say publicly that they favor the home, because they are afraid of retaliation from their neighbors," she said.

Also speaking in favor of the home was Rev. Calvin Kronmeyer, pastor of Good Shepherd Church on Hunter. His pastor's house is behind the church on Hunter.

"I wish I were a property owner, and I wish that home were being built right next door to me," he said. "I know my children will have respect for those people because I have taught my children respect for people."

He denounced an unsigned letter circulated by those opposed to the home, calling the letter inflammatory and saying his own words were used out of context.

Another vocal proponent, a resident of Lancashire, said his children would be walking past the home to go to school, and "I have no fear for my 5-year-old daughter to walk by that home."

But another area resident made it clear that her opposition to the home was most definitely founded in a fear of the actions of the residents.

"This is all male adults, and that's what we're afraid of," she said. "If it were women, or children, I don't think anyone would object."

A homeowner on Tonquish Trail summed up the major concerns of those opposed to construction of the home. He said his primary concern was the safety of his children and wife who would be home alone while he worked. Secondly, he repeated the oft-spoken fear of losing value on his house.

"I've got a lot of money wrapped up in that home; it's my largest investment. I work hard for my money, and I resent that loss."

The residents remained skeptical of the four housing studies cited by the Department of Mental Health, that claim that property values are not negatively affected by such group homes.

The concern also was raised that at 1,850 square feet and $75,000, the house would be out of place in the subdivision.

Most of the councilmen did not express an opinion on the home. However, Council President Robert Wagner began the meeting stating that "we," apparently meaning the council, opposed the location of the home on Hunter. Richard Stempien said, too, at the end of the meeting, said that he supports the "philosophy of the group home," but objects to the State of Michigan deciding on where the home would go, without consulting the city.

The home does not require any special council approval.

One Westland resident favoring the group home, Ray Rafford, challenged the council members to make clear their positions.

"I'm interested in where the council is coming from. If you have concerns about just this home on Hunter because of location and building codes, okay. But if you're going to be against all group homes, I'd like to know as a citizen, and I'll have to deal with that."

The father of a mentally retarded daughter and also assistant superintendent for student relations for the Wayne-Westland Community Schools, Rafford told the audience that the school district would be responsible for educating those retarded residents under 26.

Hesaid that the school district has been responsible in the past for shutting down foster homes in other cities when it found abuse or problems, and "we'll be the first one there to shut them down, if there's a problem."

On a personal note, he wondered aloud about his daughter's future.

"My daughter is 11 now. By the time she's 18, I hope all this is ironed out."

"You talk about fear. Well I have fears, too. Her option is the Plymouth State Home, when I'm not around to take care of her, and you've read about the problems there."

"I've lived in this community for 14 years. I hope she can stay here when I'm gone."

Brown and Law said they were to Confusion over easement puts foster home on 'hold'

Anyone building a house in Westland, or in any city, must agree not to construct a permanent structure over certain underground wires and pipelines.

The land covering the underground line, and a certain distance on both sides of it, is called an easement. It is left accessible in case the utility company must someday come in and make repair.

The fate of a proposed foster care home in Westland for mentally retarded adults still hinges on the size of the Buckeye pipeline easement that runs on the back portion of the already substandard lot on Hunter Street.

The city has gotten conflicting answers from the Buckeye Pipeline Company on the width of the easement. Its exact measurements are critical because it will determine whether or not the proposed house will "fit" on the lot.

Although the city hoped to have the definitive answer in time for Monday night's public hearing, attended by about 75 residents of the neighborhood, the question remains a puzzle.

So the city will keep trying to get the answer from Buckeye, and the city will have to hold yet another public hearing, the fourth, to give the final information to the neighbors.

The basic issue is whether or not the lot, on Hunter Street one lot east of Apache, is buildable. In 1975, the city administration said it was not, then said it was, in conflicting and confusing memos. When the group home was proposed to the Building and Planning Departments this year by the agency that is part of the Department of Mental Health, it was determined that the lot is buildable. Some officials still maintain it is not.

Once the residents and city officials determined that they didn't have the answer to this question Monday night, they proceeded to hear three hours of pro and con arguments from residents over whether or not they want the house in their neighborhood. (See related story.)

On hand for the meeting were Westland's two state representatives, Robert Law (R-Westland, Livonia) and Thomas Brown (D-Westland). Brown was a co-sponsor of the state law that permits such foster care homes in residential areas. The law, passed in 1977, prohibits cities from excluding such foster care facilities of six residents or less, as long as the home is built according to normal residential codes.

But Brown was not pleased with what has happened since the law passed.

"When we passed the legislation, we were talking about existing homes (being converted to foster care homes)," he said. The Hunter proposal is for construction of a new home.

Brown said he still agrees with the theory of the bill, that "each and every community in the state should take responsibility as far as these homes for the mentally retarded are concerned."

But he was very critical of the Department of Social Services and Department of Mental Health, saying that "to this day, they have not written up administrative rules to regulate this type of home."

meet with members of the mental health committee of the legislature Tuesday to discuss this problem. Brown said he intends to introduce a resolution in the legislature to put a moratorium on licensing any more homes until such guidelines are written and approved by the mental health committee.

Law and Brown said since the passage of the law, agencies have operated under old rules and regulations, and that is why there has been trouble in getting the group home programs going.

Although it may look like a stall to stop the Hunter home, Law maintained that actually the moratorium and writing of rules and regulations would help the Department of Mental Health as well, by preventing the program from falling apart from lack of coordination.

Natural dryer

"I don't recommend cornstarch to new mothers," said Nurse Jerilyn Schaller. "Some mothers wrongly think cornstarch offers a more 'natural' way to keep baby drier and more comfortable, but cornstarch is no more natural than baby powder made from pure talc. . . . And talc offers many aesthetic advantages."

"Baby powder has a light clean smell and a smooth silky texture," she explained, pointing out that "Pure talc is a soft natural mineral which contains platelets that glide over each other like a dry lubricant. Baby powder reduces friction and hydrated skin (wetness) problems that help cause irritation."

While cornstarch and talc are both very absorbent, cornstarch can be a medium for bacterial growth but talc remains fresh indefinitely.

Nurse Schaller assured new mothers that baby powder offers safety and smoothness unmatched by many so-called 'natural' products. In fact, the leading maker of baby powder has its own talc mine and has complete control over the quality of its talc. The extensive testing, purification and cleansing procedures insure that the talc is free from any impurities.

"Of course," she said, "a mother wants her baby to know she loves him and helping her baby stay cool and comfortable by smoothing powder on the skin is one way of saying 'I care for you'. Baby powder not only helps keep baby comfortable, but also has the additional benefit of making those special moments of touch and sharing between mother and baby so much more

ARE YOU AWARE
True Christians are Liberated!

JOHN 8:32 — And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.
8:33 — They answered him, we be Abraham's seed, and were never in bondage to any man: how sayest thou, ye shall be made free?
8:34 — Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin.

Have you committed your life to serve sin or righteousness?

ROMANS 6:16 — Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey: whether of sin unto death, or obedience unto righteousness.
6:17 — But God be thanked, that ye were the servants of sin, but ye have obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine which was delivered you.
6:18 — Being then made free from sin ye became the servants of righteousness.

II CORINTHIANS 3:17 — Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the spirit of the Lord is there is liberty.

JAMES 1:25 — But whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work. This man shall be blessed in his deed.

Dear Friend, have you taken inventory of your life lately? What are the thoughts and emotions that you keep inside, are you bound by thoughts and emotions that continue to bring you distress? The same, cause you to do and say things that bring you even greater problems. Do you have the spirit of love and freedom from sin dwelling inside? A total commitment to Jesus Christ is the answer.

Returnable bottles:

There's facts, requirements consumers should know

It's now law, and now throwing away your beverage bottles and cans will be the same as throwing away nickels and dimes. The law permits only returnable soft drink and beer containers to be sold. It was approved in the 1976 general election by 64 percent of the Michigan voters. "There are a few facts and requirements for consumers to remember to make an easy transition to the new system," said Mary Zehner, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service consumer marketing information specialist.

Containers, which by law require a deposit, are bottles and cans for soft drinks, soda water, carbonated, natural or mineral water and other nonalcoholic carbonated drinks. A deposit also is required for containers of one gallon or less holding beer, ale or other malt drinks.

Wine, liquor, fruit juice and other noncarbonated beverage containers are exempt from the deposit requirement.

On cans you will be paying a deposit of 10 cents apiece. Twelve- and 16-ounce glass containers will require a deposit of 10 cents, or 5 cents each for "certified" bottles, which can be used by more than one bottler. The deposit for large containers has yet to be set by bottlers, but currently the quart and liter glass bottles carry a 20-cent deposit. Merchants are required to accept empty returnable containers and pay (in cash) the full deposit — but only if the containers you return are kinds, sizes and brands that they carry. All returnable cans will be marked with the name of the state and the refund value. Refillable bottles will be marked with a "money back" statement.

How should you handle your returnable empties? Zehner urges consumers to rinse the cans or bottles so they don't present a sanitation problem in home or retail storage areas. And don't crush the empty cans. Returning uncrushed cans will help to speed up the return.

What about buying soft drinks from machines? Some will require a deposit on beverage containers; others will not.

However, vending machine suppliers who don't require a deposit will lose money, if people walk off with containers.

"These suppliers must pay a deposit on each container they purchase to sell in a machine. Consumers should be careful to return cans or bottles to the rack or bin furnished near machines," Zehner said.

A convenient place to redeem deposits will be provided near vending machines that collect deposits.

Are deposits necessary on soft drink containers sold in cafeterias, restaurants or schools? According to Zehner, if drinks are normally consumed on the premises, no deposit will be required and a rack or bin will be furnished for the empties. If drinks are normally taken away from the premises, a deposit will be required.

Prices for soft drinks and beer will increase, because costs to wholesalers and retailers will increase due to additional labor, equipment and storage space required to handle returned bottles and cans, Zehner said. The total capital expenditure required for the soft drink industry to stay within Michigan law is estimated at $85 million — and does not include added labor, fuel or facilities for washing bottles.

Will there be a decrease in the availability of imported beverages? Dennis Hybarger of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission in Lansing sees no need for imported beverage enthusiasts to worry that their favorite brews might become unavailable. Only a few states have beverage container laws, but importers have expressed their willingness to comply with the new state regulations.

Capture spirit of Christ Child this Christmas

"Every Christmas people from all over the world visit the Church of the Holy Nativity in Bethlehem. According to tradition, the church is built over the birthplace of Jesus Christ. Many visitors are surprised to find that the place where Jesus was to have been born is not a stable, but rather a cave.

"The Bible only tells us that Mary laid the Christ Child in a manger. We know only that Jesus was born in a place usually reserved for animals. However, it does not matter whether or not our Lord was born in a stable or a cave. What does matter is where He is born today.

"Christ comes to us through God's holy Word, and the place where He is to be born today is our hearts. Our hearts are no more worthy of Christ, the heavenly King, than was that lowly manger.

"Yet Jesus Christ wants to be born in us in order that He might empower us to love and serve God. The Holy Spirit opens our hearts to Christ as we listen to the Word of God and hear His Gracious promises.

"We can have a blessed, happy and peaceful Christmas because Jesus Christ, our Savior, has taken away the sin of the world and now lives and rules within His people.

"Don't lose sight of God's glory. Receive that peace brought by the Christ Child. Worship regularly during the Christmas season and throughout the year. Accept the invitation of St. Paul Lutheran Church, located at Ellis Street and Craig in New Boston, to join us in praise to God for his greatest gift — Jesus Christ.

"It is not Christmas without Christ."

Services at the church are at 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. Sundays, with midweek advent services set for 7 p.m. tonight and Dec. 17 and 20. The Christmas Eve children's program will be at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 24, while the Christmas Day service will be at 10 a.m. Dec. 25. A New Year's Eve service is planned for 11 p.m. and will be a chanted candlelight service, followed by a potluck dinner.

For new department

Inkster City Council approves salary scales

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Three of the four positions in Inkster's new Community Development Department (CDD) have been filled and salaries approved by city council.

Wally Arrowsmith, interim city manager, appointed Elaine C. Stottlemeyer as director, Clarence Oden as acquisition and relocation officer and reassigned Marsha Anderson as clerk typist of the department.

The fourth position, grants accountant-writer, has not been filled, but the city is going to advertise for qualified people to apply for the job.

City council approved salaries last week for the three positions that were filled. As director, Mrs. Stottlemeyer will have a starting salary of $20,645. Six months later, she will get an increase to $22,783. One year after that increase, her salary will go to $23,940.

Oden's position as acquisition and relocation officer will pay $17,834, jumping to $19,681 six months later and up to $20,680 one year after the first increase.

The position of Grants Accountant-Writer will pay $14,672 to start, with a hike to $16,191 after one year and another raise to $17,013 after the second year.

City council members, along with some members of the audience, had a difference of opinion when the term "Provisional jobs" was used to explain the new CDD positions.

Councilman Joe Davis and former mayor Edward Bivens in the audience agreed they thought it meant the people would have to pass a test before they got the jobs.

However, Arrowsmith explained that by "provisional", he meant temporary. "These people will fill the positions until council decides to terminate the department or make it permanent," he said.

"In six months council review the department's work and either make it permanent or disband it, according to its value to the city."

Arrowsmith explained at last week's council meeting that he had to recommend salaries for these positions to council that would attract qualified people on the open market.

"After some discussion (with council members in orientation session), I had to 'lower my sights' a little," he admitted.

Arrowsmith said he hoped he could find someone from the City of Inkster to fill the remaining position of grants accountant-writer.

"I'm really doubtful that we have anyone in city employment or that lives in the city that can meet the requirements for the job," the veteran city administrator said. But he quickly added, "However, I hope I'm wrong — because we would like to fill the job with a local person from Inkster."

Arrowsmith said the city would advertise for people to apply for the job. "Mrs. Stottlemeyer will interview the applicants and make a recommendation to me," said the city manager, who has final say in hiring the person to fill the position.

Arrowsmith is pleased that council approved the new CDD and said it would help Inkster greatly in its efforts to obtain federal grant funds. He pointed out that there is $1,800,000 available in CETA, HUD and Small Cities Grants.

"This streamlining of our efforts to obtain more federal grants should help the city immensely," he said.

Mrs. Stottlemeyer also pointed out that more stringent regulations from federal agencies made it mandatory for Inkster to improve its program planning if it wanted to receive federal funds in the future.

CETA funding available for vocational education

Western Wayne County residents interested in a career, but unable to afford the vocational training can find help through the federally funded Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

According to Marlene Dowling, program manager with the Wayne County Office of Manpower, hundreds of training slots currently are open to qualified persons who live in Wayne County, excluding Dearborn, Detroit and Livonia, and who meet other screening criteria.

Students receive the minimum wage for the time they attend the federally funded training. If they qualify, applicants can select training in such fields as medical, computers—programming and operating—mechanics, clerical and drafting design.

The vocational training programs are administered through the Wayne County Office of Manpower and funded through CETA, newly re-enacted this fall by Congress.

"If qualified people who need and are interested in this training were aware of its existence, they could contact our office today," Ms. Dowling said. "They then could be enrolled in most programs and have money, plus educational benefits, by the early part of the new year."

The guidelines for the program includes proof of residency in the out-county area, as well as income and unemployment criteria. Ms. Dowling added that low-income, unemployed and underemployed are looked for during the screening.

Age is no factor, however, successful clients should have a high school diploma or the GED equivalency certificate.

According to Ms. Dowling, those who would benefit most from the program are a high school graduate or GED recipient who wants to study a specific field, but can't afford college programs in terms of time and money; the person who is single a parent and needs some income while training for a future career; minorities who typically have a hard time breaking into today's job market at meaningful levels; the woman who has spent much of her life caring for a family and now, perhaps alone, finds herself in need of work and training; persons with GEDs who find they need accredited training to get jobs in today's competitive market; and the college drop-out now trying to make it on his or her own.

Vocational students come from all walks of life and cultural backgrounds, Ms. Dowling said. Training is as diverse as the needs of the persons applying, she added.

After completing training, which lasts from one to two years, depending on the program selected, students are assisted with job placement.

For further information on the program contact Evonne Hunt at 956-1581.

It's time to winterize your pets

Winter is arriving right on schedule, so the Michigan Humane Society reminds pet owners to think of winterizing their pet.

In most cases, it is perfectly all right for a dog to be kept outdoors during the winter months—if he is used to it. The average dog is able to acclimate himself to the weather, but on a gradual basis.

Naturally, a dog that is indoors most of the time shouldn't be put out for too long on a cold winter day. And, conversely, a dog with a heavy, thick coat would be most uncomfortable, if made to stay indoors all day.

When a dog is left outdoors there is one requirement that must not be overlooked. It is most important that the animal has shelter available at all times. Clean straw serves as an excellent bedding and insulation for a dog house. The straw should be changed frequently, as once it becomes wet, it loses its insulation qualities. The dog house should face south, as prevailing winds are from the west and north.

A piece of old carpeting makes a good flap for the doorway to prevent drafts.

Other cold weather reminders from the Michigan Humane Society are:

(1) Feed your pets more often to provide extra energy during winter months. Such items as beef suet, meat or bacon drippings also are good additions to his winter diet.

(2) Frequently check the food and water you put outside to make certain it doesn't freeze.

(3) Be alert for toxic snow melting substances which could make him sick and sting his paws.

(4) Put a sweater on your dog when you walk him. It's not a silly idea; it'll help keep him warm.

The Michigan Humane Society is offering a free pamphlet are plans for constructing a doghouse. The brochure can be obtained by calling your nearest Michigan Humane Society shelter or by writing to the Michigan Humane Society, 7401 Chrysler Drive, Detroit 48211.

To protect builder, buyer

Brown plans to amend home warranty proposal

A bill which would require construction and materials warranties on newly built homes is now up for House debate and vote.

The bill was introduced by State Rep. Thomas H. Brown (D-37th District), who said he will propose a substitute version of the bill, which will include amendments suggested by the Department of Management and Budget and the Michigan Home Builders Association.

The changes would include giving home builders the option of providing homeowners insurance as a method of complying with the warranty requirement.

Under the Brown bill, the home builder would have to guarantee during the first year that the dwelling would be free of defects caused by faulty work and defective materials due to non-compliance with building standards. During the first two years of the warranty, the home would have to be guaranteed to be free from defects caused by faulty installation of plumbing, electrical, heating and cooling systems.

During the first 10 years of the warranty the dwelling would have to be free of major construction defects, which are spelled out in the bill.

"There is a very definite need for this type of protection for home buyers," Brown said. "With the tremendous number of new homes being built in the metropolitan Detroit area and elsewhere in Michigan, there is more need than ever before for legally-defined protections for their buyers."

"The costs of new homes have shot up dramatically. A new home usually is the largest single purchase a person makes in his or her lifetime. With this type of investment and indebtedness, the home buyer has a right to expect certain reasonable warranty guarantees against defects."

Inhaling toy piece: Threat to toddlers

Following the recent death of a 9-year-old boy, caused by accidentally inhaling a toy rubber ring into his lung, the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan is repeating its warning about the dangers of making small, hard objects available to preschool children.

Inhalation of foreign objects is the most common cause of accidental death to children under age 6 in the home. It also is the most preventable, according to Dr. George Polgar of the Lung Association. Polgar is director of respiratory diseases at Children's Hospital of Michigan and chairman of the Lung Association's Child Lung Health Committee.

The Christmas Seal organization has outed a nationwide campaign to protect young children from this danger, which is enhanced during the holiday season as candies, nuts, and a host of other small objects and toys are tempting to toddlers. The object goes in the mouth, but sometimes it "goes down the wrong way."

Death can come from choking — sometimes cutting off the breath in the trachea (windpipe). Other times the objects are inhaled deeper into the lung, where they can cause long-term damage. Scientists call this "aspiration."

Organic and inorganic objects cause different problems when they land in the lung.

Organic and inorganic objects cause different problems when they land in the lung.

Organic and inorganic objects cause different problems when they land in the lung.

Organic objects, such as bits of food, generally cause more damage. Tiny pieces of crisp bacon, apple peel, carrots, raisins, and hard candies bring inflammation at the site, if they lodge in the lung. Inflamed tissues may encourage infection which is difficult to diagnose and treat.

Peanuts are a particular hazard. They contain vegetable oil, and any kind of oil in the lung elicits a virulent chemical reaction. Small buttons, beads, pins or toy parts are common inorganic objects that can be aspirated. Sharp objects are dangerous because tender lung tissue is easily cut or penetrated. If the objects does not interfere with the child's breathing, it still can land in the lung and cause trouble, maybe months or years later.

Sometimes inhaled objects — whether organic or inorganic require surgery for removal. It is better to prevent aspiration than to treat it, according to the American Lung Association. All small objects should be kept out of the reach of youngsters. No matter how young, children should be taught to chew food well, swallow carefully and not to run or play with food in their mouths. They also should be warned that only food should be placed in the mouth.

For more information on this subject, send for the free pamphlet, "Keep Your Child From Choking," available from the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, 28 W. Adams, Detroit, 48226.

EMU displays Ellens' work

"Disclosure," an exhibit of prints, drawings and fiber art artist Jackie Ellens of Ann Arbor, will be on display in Eastern Michigan University's Intermedia Gallery located in McKenny Union through Dec. 15.

Ellens, who earned her bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in 1978, has exhibited her art work in the Rackham Galleries at U-M, at the Illinois Regional Art Show and at the Atlanta College of Arts. She is a native of Farmington Hills.

Ellens' EMU exhibit will feature a variety of colorful fabric works woven into two- and three-dimensional shapes. Her prints convey a geometric design and are mostly "an exploration of planes in space."

Eastern's intermedia Gallery, located in the west wing of McKenny Union, is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays.

The public is invited to attend free of charge.

Heating costs tax credit available to seniors and low-income families

Senior citizens and low income families can claim a tax credit for a portion of their heating bills this winter under the provisions of a new law, according to State Rep. Robert C. Law (R-36th District).

The Michigan energy credit program will permit individuals and families to apply for the credit when they fill out their income tax forms.

"This will provide an easy way for those who need it to obtain assistance in paying their utility bills," Law said, "because it is attached to the property tax-rent credit system."

"Last year the legislature passed an emergency home heating assistance act that did not begin to have the impact we had hoped. The new program is a great improvement and we are estimating that some 648,000 households will qualify for the program."

Law explained that the Department of Treasury, rather than the Department of Social Services, will administer this new program, estimated to cost from $35 million to $40 million in tax credits.

"The amount of the credit actually has nothing to do with the actual heating costs," Law said, "but is arrived at according to a system similar to the one used to figure the property tax-rent credit."

In order to compute the credit, individuals and families would subtract 3.5 percent of household income from $200, if filing for one exemption, 3.5 percent of household income from $240 for two exemptions, from $280 for three exemptions, from $310 for four exemptions, from $340 for five exemptions and from $370 for six or more exemptions.

"Anyone who has no taxable income could receive the full exemption amount," Law said. He added that students claimed as dependents are not eligible for the credit, nor are people who receive public assistance or aid to families with dependent children because aid recipients already receive help in paying utility bills.

Households with liquid assets of $30,000 or more also are ineligible for this program unless the head of household is 65 years of age or older, he explained, or unless the family had sold its place of residence within the previous two years for $15,000 or more and their assets after subtracting the sum are less than $30,000.

"This new program will be much easier to administer and will benefit more people than last year's," Law said. "I will be available, as will people in my office, to assist senior citizens and others in filing claims for energy credits. If anyone needs help or further information, please call my legislative hotline number, 422-0750."

'Y' to host Santa

With the Christmas season just around the corner, the YWCA of Western Wayne County is busy with its plans for its annual "Lunch with Santa."

The program will be held Dec. 11-12 and 14-15 at the YWCA Building, 26279 Michigan Avenue, Inkster. A delicious lunch will be served, followed by Christmas magic show.

A visit from Santa Claus and Christmas Carol plus a small gift will complete a perfect day for the little people in your life.

Tickets, which cost $2 per person, must be purchased in advance. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

For reservations or further information call the YWCA at 561-4110.

WCC signups open

Registration for the winter semester began this week at Washtenaw Community College and will continue through Jan. 2.

Classes at the college are slated to start Jan. 3.

Catalogues, describing the several hundred classes offered by the college, are available at the Registration and Admissions Center, or by request through the mail.

Students may register from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the college, 4800 East Huron River Drive, on the second floor of the Student Center Building. Special evening registrations will be held Dec. 14, 20 and 27 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

In addition, until Dec. 22, part-time students may register for classes by phoning 973-3641 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Tuition must be paid in full at the time of registration. Fees for in-district residents are $14.00 per credit hour. In-district senior citizens may enroll at no charge as part of the college's Golden Eagle program. Financial aid requests can be made by calling 973-3525 or 973-3523.

The college also provides a day care facility for children 1½ to 5 years of age whose parents are attending classes at the college. Hours for the Children's Center are 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Fees are determined on a sliding scale which begins at 50 cents an hour. Specific information regarding the Children's Center is available by calling 973-3538.

Other questions about registration should be directed to the WCC staff at 973-3548.

Regulating retirement systems

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

There are state laws which regulate retirement systems. The Legislature has sought this year to improve them.

There is also the question of mandatory retirement. Is it good or bad?

The House approved, by a near unanimous vote, a bill to prohibit an employer from requiring an employee to retire due to the employee's age. The bill is in committee in the Senate.

Many persons are required to retire from their jobs when they reach a certain age — usually 65—regardless of their competence. Although most people seem to look forward to retirement, others do not.

Therefore, it is not uncommon for able, alert and healthy persons to leave jobs they would prefer to remain in and to face a future of enforced leisure, a future they are ill-equipped to face. This can be unfair and damaging to older people and a waste of talent and experience.

There is evidence that reaching the age of retirement can have a tremendous, harmful emotional effect on some people. It can be a symbol to them of decline, with a lack of purpose in their lives and a loss of self-esteem. This can lead to depression, ill health, deterioration of marriages, alcoholism and even suicide.

Further, many who are forcibly retired face a substantial loss of income, suffering economic hardship and forcing them to alter the way they live.

While the bill would not force anyone to work after normal retirement age, it would give older workers a freedom of choice and equal opportunity.

Mandatory retirement puts strains on retirement programs, including the Social Security System. As persons of retirement age become a larger percentage of the population, the burden on work forces supporting retirement programs grows. Allowing persons of retirement age to continue working, if they so desire, would tend to reduce that burden. There has been a movement against mandatory retirement at both the federal and state level. California has passed a law ending mandatory retirement for all except police, firefighters and teachers. Maine has ended mandatory retirement for state civil service employees.

The bill passed by the House would not apply to police or firemen. It would also require the State Civil Rights Commission to write rules to establish procedures an employer would use in determining the ability of an employee at normal retirement age to continue to do his job.

The House has approved a number of bills related to retirement service credits for public employees for military service.

There are presently two retirement systems for public school employees, one for Detroit and other for the rest of the state, although they are moving toward complete integration.

Existing law allows persons under those retirement systems to purchase retirement credits for military service before becoming a school employee, after serving at least 10 years in one of the retirement systems.

The bill passed by the House would allow the 10 years of school service required for eligibility for military service credits to be served in both the Detroit and outstate retirement systems, which protects those school employees who have moved from one to the other.

The amount of money required to "buy into" the retirement system to obtain credits for prior military service can be substantial. Another bill approved by the House would allow the military service credits to be purchased on the installment plan, with annual installments of at least $300.

Payments would have to be made in full before retirement and there would be five per cent interest on the unpaid balance.

The two bills are in the Senate, as is another bill which gives State Police employees the same right as other state employees to buy retirement credits for military service before going to work for the state. The credits could be purchased after 15 years of State Police service.

The same bill would grant supplemental monthly allowances, ranging from one to eight per cent, for State Police retirees or their beneficiaries. Similar supplemental benefits, needed because of the impact of inflation, were provided for other state employees in 1977.

In all cases, the purchase of prior military service retirement credits is optional with the employee.

Law passed in 1976 provides that a person receiving public school employees' retirement system survivor's benefits who has the benefits terminated by remarriage can obtain them once more upon the death of the second spouse. However, it required that application for reinstatement be made within 90 days of the effective date of the law.

There were some otherwise eligible persons who did not apply for the reinstated benefits in time and thus lost them. A bill passed by the House and sent to the Senate would eliminate the 90-day limitation so that an eligible person could apply for the benefits at any time.

Congratulations, Faust

Our congratulations to Senator William Faust.

Senator Faust, Democrat of the 13 District, representing Westland, Wayne, Canton Township, Van Buren Township, Belleville, Romulus and Garden City, was unanimously elected to continue serving as the Senate Majority Leader.

While we have long been impressed with Faust's abilities to represent this area, his election to the leadership post carried with it a significant victory for his campaign to reform senate rules. Reform that will go a long way toward improving that body's image.

For too many years, the Michigan Senate operated with almost no control over its members.

We all recall the front page stories of the Senate's self-indulgence. Improving their offices and furnishings at taxpayer expense. We can all recall the Senate Committee leaders who bottled up important legislation because of special interest. We can all also recall the frequent out-of-town trips our Senators bestowed upon themselves, and on occasion, their families, at taxpayer expense.

But this is the first time we can recall when the senate took any meaningful action to curb senate excess.

We are of course proud that our elected representative was recognized by his colleagues as one of our state's best. But more importantly, we are proud that we are represented by a man who is more dedicated to principle than political advantage.

We feel that the package of senate reforms approved along with Faust's second senate leadership term, could well signal the beginning of a new era for Michigan.

With the credibility of our elected officials at an all time low, the move by the senate to approve Faust's reform measures could not have come at a more important time.

The recent state ballot contained 11 ballot questions. Questions which the elected leaders of this state were either unable or unwilling to tackle. It is clear that those who chose to initiate the petition drives to place those questions on the ballot felt that their government was unresponsive at best, and unconcerned at worst.

While we certainly realize that the reform measures sponsored by Faust will not provide all the answers to all the questions, it does however, provide some of the answers to some of the questions. It is the beginning, we hope, of a new attitude on the part of elected officials to represent more closely, the views of those who elected them.

It is appropriate that Faust's selection for the Senate Majority Leadership Post came at the first open political caucus in the history of the state.

According to Faust, "Senate Democrats have shown their commitment to an open legislative process by conducting their caucus business in an open session, available for public inspection. This is a positive indication that 'Open Government' is going to be a reality in the Michigan Legislature."

We take our hat off to Senator William Faust.

Editor's Log

Risk-free society 'Do not sniff'

Coal is dirty and pollutes. Nuclear energy will destroy all of us. Oil is disappearing. Natural Gas is no longer profitable to exploit. Our Nighties, treated with 'Tris', are a health hazard. It looks like we will all be relegated to sitting nude in front of our fireplaces, slowly freezing to death in order to protect our environment.

But we must never fall in the trap of worrying about today. Tomorrow is much more important, even if most of us will be gone by then.

And now, the latest movement to grab the attention of those who are short of causes to champion, is the 'Risk Free Society.'

Forget for a moment the real risk of freezing to death if the environmentalists prevail.

According to the new philosophy, anything that may constitute a risk to mankind, must be regulated out of existence.

Last week for example, our federal government, apparently running out of things to regulate, ordered that from now on, all containers of Battery Electrolyte — that stuff you find inside your auto battery, commonly referred to as acid — must carry a 'Do not Drink' warning on its label.

One would conclude from that action that a recent outbreak of "Electrolytic Junkies" had been discovered. But the fact is, Electrolyte is a poison, probably tastes terrible and the container does not even require a bottle deposit, so who would drink it anyway?

That government action is roughly equivalent to a 'Do Not Sniff' warning on airplane glue. An invitation to those who enjoy flouting the rules of society, to try the stuff.

It's been said that "Idle hands are the devil's workshop." I think idle bureaucratic minds are government's workshop.

The advent of the 'Risk Free Society' promises to reduce us all to the lowest common denominator. Cowards, incapable of the simplest decision without government counsel.

After all, who would venture out of the home, the location where most accidents occur, for a trip to the market without first receiving assurance that the government certified mechanic performed the government certified repairs on the government certified auto, using government certified parts that were installed at the government facility which allowed these certified mechanics to maintain the proper government certified mental attitude to do the job right in the first place.

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

Not to mention the trauma of selecting the proper government certified food, once at the market.

It seems that government always misses the real point.

During the struggles over gun registration proposals, opponents have always argued that guns do not kill, only the people using them do.

That same argument could, and I think should, be applied to more of society's problems.

It is after all, not an auto's fault if it collides with another auto, it is the auto driver's fault.

It is not the container of Battery Acid at fault, if someone chooses to drink it, and it is not the airplane glue's fault if a person decides to sniff it.

But it is not likely that government will decide to certify people, the real cause of most problems. People vote, machines do not.

So the best we can all hope for now is that government does not realize that our nude bodies in front of the fireplace run the risk of flying sparks.

Because if they do, the next load of logs you buy will have a warning on their sides: "Do not Burn."

CARE needs help

During this holiday season, the meaning of giving gifts is too often lost in our efforts to buy bigger and better or more unusual presents.

Almost every large store features novelty items "for the man or woman who has everything." But for impoverished people in developing nations who have so little, the meaning of a simple gift has not been lost, especially if the gift helps pull them out of poverty.

Your gift to CARE goes a long way toward doing just that.

In the poorest rural areas of developing nations food is the urgent basic need and in this year's Holiday Food Crusade CARE hopes to raise $6,500,000 to help provide nourishing supplemental feeding to 25 million people, mostly children.

Children and adults who are weak and disease-prone from malnutrition are unable to learn and apply skills to better their lives. And so, in addition to providing food, your dollars go directly into CARE projects which teach nutrition and soil conservation methods to enable needy people to grow more food.

With CARE material and guidance, they build schools to educate their children, construct sanitary water systems and health centers to combat the multiple diseases which plague them, and build roads and small businesses to bring them into the mainstream of economic development.

The people learn and teach others in their country. CARE conducts feeding and self-help development programs in 36 developing nations in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East. MEDICO, the medical arm of CARE, offers training for physicians, nurses and other health care personnel in several of the countries where the agency operates.

For each dollar donated by the public last year CARE provided almost $10 in aid. This is because CARE combines thrifty management with U. S. Food-for-Peace commodities, host government contributions and donations of labor, land and available materials from the people being helped. Your contribution may be sent to: CARE, 660 First Avenue, New York N.Y. 10016.

Mayor hails Faust victory

Editor:

On behalf of the administration of the City of Romulus, I would like to publicly extend my heartfelt congratulations to Senator William Faust upon his reelection to the position of Senate Majority Leader.

His reelection to this position of leadership and responsibility is most gratifying to his constituents, but also attests to the good judgment of his colleagues.

Senator Faust's personal victory brings to a successful conclusion his long efforts to make the post more meaningful and substantial, which will benefit the entire lawmaking process.

For the first time, a Senate Majority Leader will now have full authority to select committee chairmen and appoint committee members, a power the Speaker of the House has had for many years.

This change, I believe, will bring greater accountability to the selection process, allowing Senator

Faust to appoint members to vital committee positions on the basis of merit and philosophical viewpoint, rather than on seniority alone.

I also think Senator Faust's increased authority will now enable him to begin a program of needed reforms and help bring the Senate up to a position of partnership with the House in the area of legislative initiative.

Again, my congratulations to Senator Faust for a job well done and a deserved return to leadership in the Senate.

Our best wishes go with him as he faces the challenges and pursues the promise of progress in state government.

William Oakley
Mayor, City of Romulus

City thanks residents

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the many residents who completed an airport survey conducted by the City on election day, November 7, 1978.

The survey, distributed at each polling place during the day by volunteer high school government students from Mr. Hanna's and Mr. Wilnus's classes was designed to record citizen reaction to the airport's presence in our city and the possibility of further expansion of the facility in the future.

The survey, similar to one mailed to some residents several months ago by the airport planners, will be valuable to the city in our efforts to guarantee the rights of all residents.

If you are a Romulus resident, and did not have an opportunity to complete a survey, stop by city hall or call the Public Information Office at 941-0666, ext. 20, and one will be sent to you immediately.

All respondents will remain strictly anonymous; no signature or identifying information is asked for or required.

Again, a special thanks to the high school volunteers, without whose help this project would not have been possible.

Jay Young and John Shea

God bless our lovely community.

I am very proud to live here.

Thanks to every person that brought prosperity into our community

Thanks for tribute

Editor:

The Nov. 22, 1978 issue of your paper said tribute to a wonderful lady, Lillie Bernhardt, my Mother.

Her photo which appeared on the front page is beautiful — much better than most we have taken, and the story-biography was most accurate.

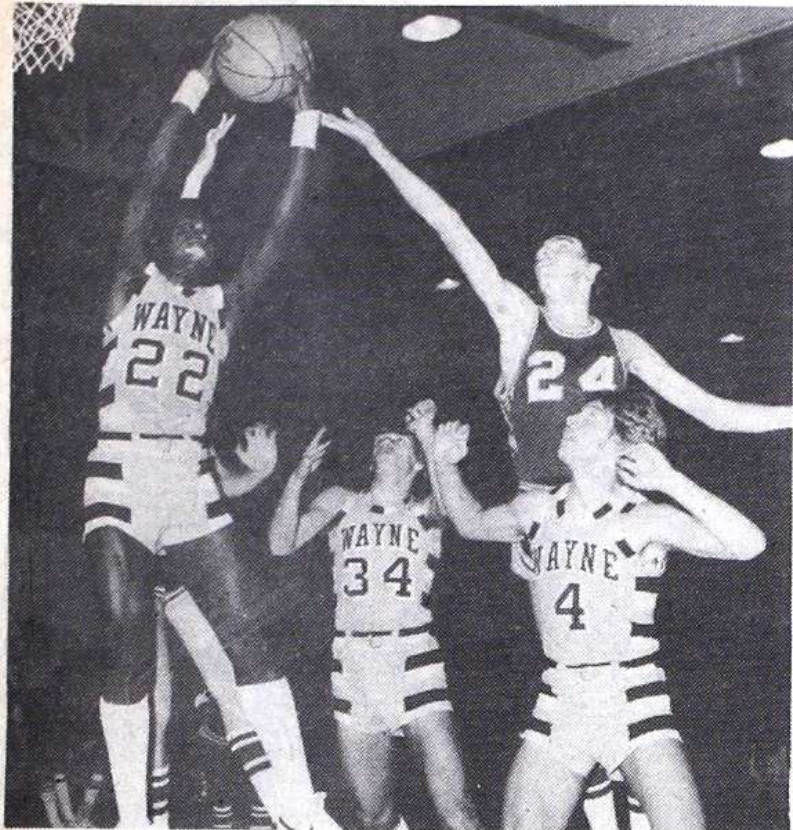

We thank you for the generous publicity and honor you have bestowed on a grand lady of 95 years.

Glenn puts cage crown on block

With teammates Mark Zerona (4) and Jamie Barber (34) blocking out Taylor Truman's Mark Mudge (24), Wayne's Kelvin Lee (22) grabs this rebound during Friday's Great Lakes 8 Conference opener. Lee pumped in 16 points as Wayne remained the champs' current nemesis with a 48-44 victory.

Unbeaten Westlanders host Franklin

Churning out baskets at a record clip, defending champ Westland John Glenn will place its Northwest Suburban Conference cage crown on the block Friday night when a winless but potentially dangerous Livonia Franklin invades the Rocket gym.

Glenn Coach Gordie Davis sizes up Franklin as a "serious contender." "Franklin has a lot of experience back from last year's squad," said Davis, "and they also have one of the finest players in the league in Chris Baker."

"We have to stop Baker and, at the same time get our running game going in order to beat them."

"With Armstrong back, (Daran Armstrong) Glenn has the nucleus of a strong team and I feel we're going to have to stop Daran and the fast break in order for us to beat them."

The Westlanders have looked invincible in their first three outings. Last Friday the Rockets subdued Clarenceville 92-51 and on Tuesday they disposed of a highly regarded Cherry Hill quintet, 97-71.

The outcome was never in doubt against Clarenceville after the initial half. With Armstrong scoring eight points and Tony Colucci getting 10 in the second period, Glenn leaped from an eight point, 24-16, lead after eight minutes to a commanding 57-27 advantage at intermission.

With Coach David using his bench indiscriminately after the half, the Rockets outscored their hosts 25-10 in the third period.

Armstrong kept up his torrid scoring pace as the 5-11 senior guard hit on 11 field goals and made one of one at the foul line for a game high 23 points. The Rockets also had three others in double figures. Ralph McKenzie accounted for 12 points, Mike Plocharczyk added 11 and Colucci counted 10.

In the match up of area powers, Glenn had no problems convincing Cherry Hill it was no match for them this early in the season. Ahead by as much as 25 points in the second half, the Rockets jumped on the Spartans 23-17 in the first period, scored 31 in the next eight minutes to stroll off the court with a 54-43 halftime lead, then proceeded to outscore their visitors 24-15 and 19-13 for the last two periods, respectively.

"We have been putting some balls in the baskets for a change," remarked Davis, "and, though the score may not indicate it, we have been playing excellent defense because we have been scoring off of our press."

Armstrong and McKenzie provided the Rockets with 22 and 20 points, respectively, while Al Malott chipped in with 13 and Plocharczyk added 10.

Pierre Hudson led the Spartan attack with 20 points, while Darnell Green and Thompson split 28 points between them.

Belleville cagers give champ, Livonia Bentley 'the fits'

BY TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

In one of those proverbial "Goliath and David" matchups, underdog Belleville gave pre-season title favorite Livonia Bentley a lot to think about before succumbing 67-62 to the Suburban 8 Conference co-champs Friday night.

Despite the absence of last year's All-State candidate Kelvin Patterson who defected to Ypsilanti, Belleville reemerged as a team to be reckoned with without their "bread-and-butter" senior.

"We're very young," said Belleville Coach Tom Niemi after his second straight loss, "however, despite that fact I felt we played an excellent defensive game against Bentley in the second half. We came within two points of tying that game after they led us by as much as 12 points at the intermission."

Belleville played a zone against the taller Bentley quintet in the first period but quickly abandoned the strategy after the Bulldogs built up a 23-17 lead. With 6-6 Eric Thorderson causing most of the problems in the first half, Belleville decided to switch to a man-to-man and full court press its rivals the rest of the way.

Herb Burrus, an All-Area cager a year ago, Gary Herndon and newcomer Charles Blackman led the Tiger attack in the second half as they outscored their rivals 14-13 and 21-15 in the last two periods.

Herndon, who sank 10 field goals for 20 points, paced all scorers, while Burrus chipped in 18 and Blackman had 12.

Thorderson picked up 17 points, tops for Bentley which also sank 13 of 25 at the free throw line as compared to Belleville's 8 of 13 effort.

"Bentley is favored to win the league title and is ranked 10th among the Class A powers this year," noted Niemi, "but I feel we showed that we will be someone to be reckoned with this year."

"It is also unfortunate that our young people will have to gain so

One could become paranoid about coaching

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

An organization can get paranoid about finishing second - just ask the Cincinnati Reds owners of the National Baseball League.

They got rid of one of the most successful baseball coaches in history when they dumped Sparky Anderson, because "Manager Anderson didn't fit in the future plans of the club."

And the owners didn't ask anyone anything when it came time to fire their head man.

But Belleville High and Van Buren superintendent of schools, Elvin Peets, isn't going to take any chances when it comes to picking a successor to ex-head football coach Pat Stokes who left the Tigers impotent grid machine in mid-season after Belleville failed to win a game.

Supt. Peets wants some input from the community about the heir-apparent to the controversial coaching job, a job that has little to offer recently except criticism.

"We're going to hold a meeting tonight (Wednesday, Dec. 6) at our board offices (555 West Columbia) to discuss the selection of a new head football coach," Supt. Peets announced last week. "We are seeking the best possible candidate for this coaching position, therefore, we're asking for applicants from both within as well as outside the school system."

The position may not be hard to fill - but the successful applicant will inherit a team that was won only one game in their last 19 outings.

That horrendous record has stirred a lot of controversy and, before it becomes an Iranian-type situation, the school administration would like to resolve the problem.

The pity of it all is - that Belleville has so much talent - and all it needs is a Lloyd Carr, Chuck Gordon or Tom Moshimer kind of man to develop it.

CHRIS LEVERENZ

Ex-Area grappler vies at tourney

Chris Leverenz, who won the state Class A wrestling championship at 178 last year, competed in his second tournament over the weekend at the annual Michigan Collegiate Wrestling Tournament held at Central Michigan University.

Leverenz, who prepped at Wayne Memorial and is a freshman at Grand Rapids Junior College, whipped Eastern Michigan's Eric Wanner on a pin to advance to the semi-finals round where he lost to Tim Harris, of Northern Michigan, 8-2.

Harris went on to win the 177-pound title.

Also, Kyle Heaton, a former Plymouth Canton wrestler, made his initial appearance representing Lake Superior State College and found the going rough. He was eliminated after two matches without a victory to his credit.

DEBORAH CONBOY

Back to the world of sports. Deborah Conboy, who holds a couple of discs and shot putting records at Westland John Glenn, is making history at New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, New Mexico.

Miss Conboy, who graduated in June from Glenn has become the first female trainer for both the high school and the college football teams at the military institute, and also the first female instructor in their conference.

How in heavens did Deborah ever find her way to the New Mexico Military Institute?

"I really don't know, but she took tests at Glenn and passed and told me she wanted to go there," explained her father. "It is a two-year junior college which includes ROTC training and, upon completion, she'll be able to attend any college and upon graduation she'll be commissioned as a 2nd Lieutenant."

That's not bad.

Any military academy that has produced such men as Roger Starbuck, can't be bad, can it?

And our apologies to Glenn's Dan O'Brien and Tim Killingbeck. Named to our All-Area football team last week, their photos were shuffled in the maize and didn't make it into last week's edition. O'Brien picked up another post-season accolade when he was named to the first string, All-State Football Team by The Detroit Free Press. Congratulations.

Here are the two photos for the scrapbook.

Last second tap-ins 'hit rim'

Romulus loses by one to Flint Beecher

Making up for their first half scoring deficiencies in the third period, Romulus came from behind and within one point of upsetting perennial Class B state title contender, Flint Beecher, Friday night.

With 10 seconds remaining in the game, Coach Rod Hanna's Eagles had at least six tap-ins that "went in, and out" of the basket before they dropped a earsplitting 72-71 decision to Flint.

"From a spectator's point of view, it was a great game," said Hanna after losing his first of the season. Earlier in the week Romulus put down a strong Dearborn St. Alphonsus quintet, 64-59.

"We played catch up most of the night after we trailed by at least 10 points at the half," Hanna continued, "but we managed to take the lead in the fourth period by one, but just couldn't hang on. We had our chances in those last seconds and missed."

With 10 seconds to go, Darryl Lewis took a 12 foot jumper and missed, which erupted the scramble for the rebound. Romulus' Vince Bean got the ball and tried to tip it in and missed and his teammates had four other shots at the basket, but the ball refused to go in.

"I'm disappointed that we lost, of course," said Hanna, "but I'm proud at the way our kids came back - that's a sign of maturity."

Flint's full-court press annoyed the Eagles in the first half and led to several turnovers that helped the winners grab a 19-14 lead. Flint increased the margin to 40-29 after two periods before Romulus outscored their hosts 26-13 in the third period on the strength of a balanced scoring attack which includes six points each by John Kersey, Bean,

3rd period surge wins for Huron

With each of the pieces falling into place in the third period, New Boston Huron surged to a 20-9 edge to break open a close game and win its 1978 basketball opener 63-56 at the expense of Woodhaven.

Woodhaven gained a 11-8 first period advantage, but the Chiefs got their running game going in the next frame and with the help of Jay Richert's 10 pointstookcommand 27-22 at the half.

Then, Coach Gene Smith's cagers came back and outplayed their nonleague rivals in the third period as Randy Pichan sank two key buckets to stake the Chiefs to a 20-9 period.

"I felt we had some kids come through for us who had never done so," said Coach Smith who has the weekend off to scout league rivals. "Because of the balanced attack, it was very pleasing to me."

Huron threw a zone defense at their rivals who had their share of headaches trying to break it. Woodhaven managed to come back in the final eight minutes thanks to Glen Drobot who pumped in 12 of his game high 23 points in that period. Huron had three players hit in

Miss DeVenny finishes 42nd in nationals

Turning in her best time of the year, Westlander Jennifer DeVenny finished 42nd at the recent National Junior College women's cross country championships.

Miss DeVenny, wearing Schoolcraft College's colours, was clocked at 19:10 for the 3-mile course. The effort was a career best for the young runner.

Some 100 women representing more than 50 states took part in the competitions which were held in Champaign, Illinois.

Dodge City Community College of Kansas won the team championships and Clackamas Community College out of Oregon was the runnerup. The individual winner was Wren Schafer who hails from Golden Valley Lutheran (Minnesota).

Schoolcraft Coach Dan Reynolds said he was pleased with Miss DeVenny's performance and is looking forward to her return to the nationals a year from now. Jennifer is a freshman.

Maneuvering for a rebound

Forming a triangle under the boards, Romulus' Vince Bean(34), Richard Lewis(22) and Dave Casey(at right) apparently have learned their lesson well - that's the best way to block out the opposition. Romulus had the boards and ample scoring power to win their 1978-79 cage opener

Robichaud '5' is no match for state-ranked Pioneer

Dearborn Heights Robichaud learned the hard way why Ann Arbor Pioneer is considered one of the finest prep cage teams in the state this year.

Led by 6-6 Dave Elliott, younger brother of former all-stater, Bob, Pioneer overpowered Coach Francis McCauley's Bulldogs 83-62 in the season opener Friday night for the Heights' quintet.

"We have some tall and excellent teams in our league(Suburban Athletic Conference)," commented McCauley after the opening night setback, "but Pioneer is probably the tallest and one of the finest we will meet this year."

Pioneer jumped off to a 19-4 lead in the initial minutes of the non-conference confrontation and held what appeared to be a sufficient lead at the end of the period, 28-13, but Robichaud counter-attacked with Terry Ross and Renee Steel's sharpshooting in the next period. Ross' nine points and Steel's eight cut Pioneers lead to five points, 41-36, at halftime.

But Pioneers countered with a 20-10 third period to stash away their second victory in as many starts.

"They dominated the boards and the game," said McCauley who will send his cagers up against a winless Clarenceville Friday night. "We had first game problems in the opening minutes, but settled down and played ball the second period."

"And I also believe that two weeks just isn't enough to get a team ready for its first game," the Bulldog coach added.

Ross, who sank eight field goals and one of two at the foul line, finished with Robichaud's high of 17 points. Teammates Steel and Ron Woodson also were in double figures with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Robichaud's senior pivotman, 6-9½ John Matthews, counted 10 points for the evening.

Elliott led a well-balanced Pioneer scoring attack, collecting 22 points, two more than Tony Johnson and Keith Bostick.

Westlander Svabik in NAIA playoffs

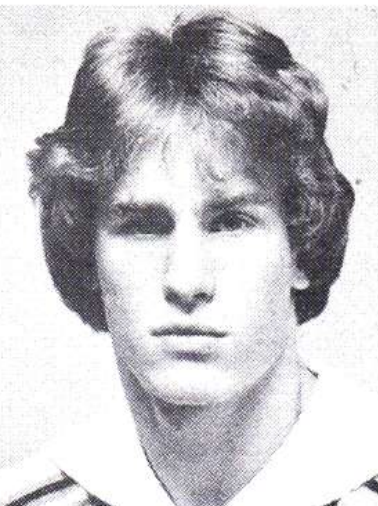

Freshman linebacker Lee Svabik of Westland who was an All-Area griddar a year ago, is a member of Gran Valley State's football team which was selected to play in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Division I playoffs.

The Lakers(8-2) finished seventh in the final NAIA Poll and traveled to LaCrosse, Wisconsin on Dec. 2 to take on fifth-ranked University of Wisconsin LaCrosse(9-1) in one of four quarterfinal games.

The winners will advance to the semi-finals scheduled for December 9 and the championship will be decided in McAllen, Texas on December 16.

The playoff berth for Grand Valley is a first in the eight-year history of the Laker football program.

Coach Jim Harkema's club won the Great Lakes Conference for the second straight year. It will also mark the first time the GLIAC winner has gone to the NAIA playoffs.

MHSAA shuffles district playoff cage tourney sites

There is good news and bad news for prep cage teams who are looking forward to the 1978-79 season and the district playoffs.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association released the playoff sites for the districts, and Belleville and Romulus won't have to worry about Ypsilanti having the home court advantage — but they'll still have to get past the mighty Braves.

Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers and Romulus Coach Rod Hanna and his Eagles will travel in the same direction in March, going south to Temperance Bedford, a high school that has been designated as host for a Class A district playoffs. Joining the two area teams at Bedford will be Adrian, Monroe and, of course, defending district champs, Ypsi.

Meanwhile, Plymouth Salem and Livonia Churchill will also host Class A districts. Salem will entertain neighboring Canton, Garden City East, Garden City West, Wayne Memorial and Westland John Glenn, which is also a defending district champ.

At Churchill, the four Livonia schools — Bentley, Churchill, Franklin and Stevenson will be joined by Northville and Redford Thurston to form a six-team playoff.

Three of the area Class B representatives will be playing for the District title at Dearborn Heights Robichaud. Cherry Hill, which won it a year ago at Robichaud, will have to defend it against the likes of Dearborn Divine Child, Dearborn St. Alphonsus, Riverside, Detroit U of D High, Inkster and Robichaud.

New Boston Huron will return to Riverview in the Chiefs' quest for a "B" playoff district title. Also scheduled to see action at Riverview are the host, Woodhaven, Gibraltar Carlson, Grosse Ile, and Gabriel Richard.

The district playoffs will be staged the week of March 5th through March 10th, and the winners will advance to the regional playoffs set for the following week.

Justin, Winekoff capture Bedford wrestling titles

Belleville's Joe Justin and Carl Winekoff, two of the finest prep wrestlers in the state this season, launched their senior years with outstanding performances at the prestigious Temperance Bedford Invitational.

Justin, who finished second in the state a year ago, won the 119-pound gold medal and teammate, Winekoff, earned the gold for his heroics in the 145 pound class.

However, the two winning performances weren't enough for Coach Gerald Malecek's Tigers who were forced to settle for third place behind host, Bedford, and a surprising strong Trenton.

Trenton could upset Belleville's plans to retain for the third consecutive year the Suburban 8 Conference championship.

"I was really impressed by Trenton's team," said Malecek who is in his seventh year as the Tigers' head coach. "Coach Stallings (Jim Stallings, Trenton head coach) apparently had the good fortune of having two outstanding wrestlers move into the city from New York, and now we have to consider them the team to beat."

Malecek however wasn't minimizing the threat posed by perennial conference powers Edsel Ford and Plymouth Salem, which have been constant threats.

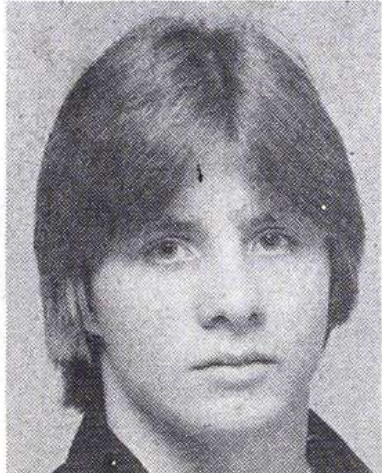

Meanwhile, back at Bedford, Belleville had a chance to move up a notch and finish second. Rick Winekoff, Carl's younger brother, reached the finals of the 155-pound class and wound up second best in that weight class.

A victory by Rick would have provided the Tigers enough points to move ahead of the Trojans. It would have also given Belleville three of the four trophies awarded by the host.

Inkster upset bid over Murray Wright foiled by free throw

It wasn't supposed to be close, after all, Detroit Murray Wright, winner of the prestigious St. Cecilia Summer Basketball League championship and a Class A cage power, isn't even in the same class as Inkster's rebuilt cage machine.

But, apparently, Coach George Thompson's Vikings didn't get the message — they gave the Detroit Public School league title contender a scare before falling in the final second 78-77.

It was Anthony White who sank both ends of a one-and-one who spelled the difference. White, and 6-3½ guard Marlo McClain, a legitimate all-state candidate, combined for 51 of the Detroiters' 78 points.

Inkster never let their visitors get out of sight as the Vikings trailed by four, 21-17, after the first period and stayed within reach 39-33 at half-time. Then, with DeShawn Wells showing the way and six players scoring, Inkster rallied to tie the game at 53-all for three periods. DeShawn had six points in the third stanza.

Steve Tomplison, whose brother, Bill, earned all-state recognition at Inkster a few years ago, and Al Dukes, an all-SAC cager a year ago, kept the Vikings in the thick of the duel in the final period. Dukes scored 10 of 18 points and Tomplison had six of his team high 25 points in the last period.

Trailing by nine with three minutes to go, the Vikings erased the deficit and, at one period, took the lead 77-76 on Eric Crouch's 10-foot jumper.

But Murray Wright, capitalizing on their free throws — they canned 18 of 20 — managed to pull out the narrow decision.

"I felt we played a solid game against one of the best Detroit teams," said Thompson, "and we managed to stick with them on the boards despite the fact they were much taller and more physical than we were," Thompson commented.

Inkster sophomore Darryl Lewis, given varsity status last week, came off the bench and pulled down 12 rebounds and contributed four points.

"Darryl played a very good game for his first outing," remarked the Viking coach. "You'll be hearing more about him as the season matures."

Southeastern, another Detroit power, was due in town Tuesday night, while Willow Run, another nonleague foe, is scheduled to take on the Vikings Friday at Inkster.

Inkster carries a 1-1 record into the week.

Championships

Coming off of an impressive victory over Willow Run, the Belleville Tiger Swim Club will pack up its gear and head for Chelsea on Saturday.

Chelsea will host an all-day conference championship, and the local age-group swimmers figure to be among the leaders.

The Tigers handled Willow Run 382-336 as Belleville received 15 winning performances, 11 by their relay teams.

Eric Snyder posted a 39.8 in claiming the gold medal for the 50-yard freestyle event, while Harto Dubisky touched in first for the 100-yard freestyle for boys 9 and 10 years old. He was clocked in 1:16.4.

In the girls' 9-10 age group, Theresa Weglarz finished first with a 1:21.9, and Laura Kuhr was the top performer in the 200-yard freestyle for 13 and 14 year olds. She covered the distance in 2:21.0.

Choose A Retirement Plan With Security

If You Work For Someone Else . . .

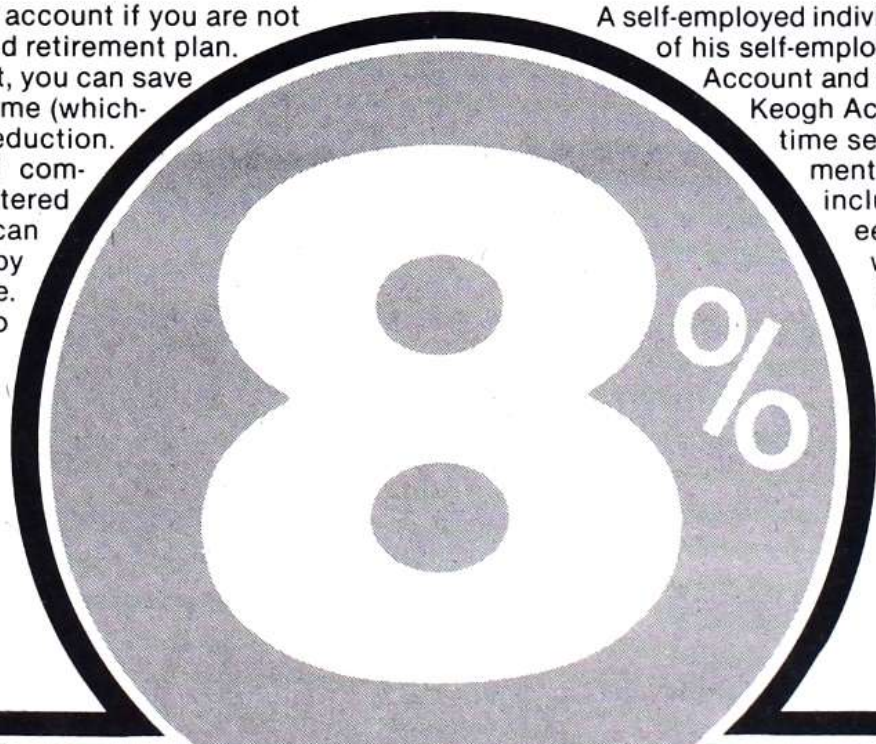

You can qualify for this tax-sheltered retirement account if you are not currently a participant in any employer-sponsored retirement plan. With an Individual Retirement Custodial Account, you can save up to $1,500 or 15% of your annual earned income (whichever is less) and take the contribution as a tax deduction. In addition, all earnings (interest earned and compounded) on your retirement account are tax-sheltered until retirement. □ An eligible IRA participant can increase retirement benefits and tax savings by opening a Spouse's IRA for a non-employed spouse. The combined total of contributions can be up to $1,750 or 15% of the working spouse's annual compensation (whichever is less). You may start making withdrawals from your IRA Account without penalty between the ages of 59½ and 70½.

Both retirement plans earn 8% interest, paid and compounded quarterly, yielding 8.24% annually. Minimum deposit is $25 and you can make additions of $25 or more any time. Deposits earn from the day of deposit but all deposits made in same calendar year have same maturity date—three years from December 31 of year in which the deposits are made.

If You Work For Yourself . . .

A self-employed individual can deposit up to a maximum of $7,500 or 15% of his self-employed income (whichever is less) in a Security Keogh Account and take that amount as an income-tax deduction. □ A Keogh Account can also be used to cover income from part-time self-employment even if you are covered by a retirement plan in a full-time job. Such part-time income could include consulting or lecture fees, director's or trustee's fee or income from art work. □ As an employer with a Keogh Account, you must include all employees who have worked for you for 1,000 hours or more for three consecutive years at the same contribution rate you select for yourself.

Withdrawals without penalty are permitted in the case of death or permanent disability. Otherwise Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate. There is also a substantial I.R.S. penalty for early withdrawal.

Wayne cagers burn Truman, again

Schwartz makes league coaching debut with 48-44 victory

There is something about Taylor Truman that brings the best out of Wayne Memorial cagers.

Truman, the undisputed Great Lakes 8 Conference champ, lost only one league game last year - to Wayne Memorial and freshman Coach Steve Schwartz started his coaching career equally impressively with a 48-44 victory last Friday over the defending champs.

The current Truman nemesis sealed the victory thanks to a pair of free throws by Mark Zerona who canned the crucial charity shots with 16 seconds left in the game. Truman had its chances, though. In the final 56 seconds they missed on five one-and-ones.

"I really feel they took us too lightly," Schwartz said, "and coupled with their poor first half shooting which helped us built us a lead they couldn't overcome - that was the difference."

Truman got down to business, early, however. They ran up a 7-0 lead as Wayne missed its first nine shots before Kelvin Lee, a 6-foot senior forward banked in a jumper from the corner to give Wayne its first basket.

Lee's basket apparently caught on as the Zebras managed to erase the deficit and tie the score at 8-all when the period ended.

Wayne then outscored their visitors 19-8 in the second period on the strength of baskets by Greg Reynolds, Lee and Kyle Poteau.

Ahead 27-16 at the intermission, Wayne enjoyed a 15-point lead at one point in the third period before the defending champ launched its counter-attack. Ron Krchan and Mycal Hall each sank four points which staked the champs to a 17-12 advantage for the third period and set the stage for a nailbiting finish. Wayne managed to keep its slim edge, getting an outstanding board effort from 6-5 junior center Darryl Jordan who picked off 10 rebounds and contributed six points.

"I think the boards played a key role in our victory," Coach Schwartz said. "We managed to win the rebounding war, 43-34, and Darryl played an extremely important role for us."

Lee and Reynolds also grabbed seven rebounds apiece.

Lee, who sank seven field goals and a pair of free throws, led all scorers with 16, while Zerona and Reynolds each finished with 10 apiece.

Ron Kochan was Truman's top man with 13.

Meanwhile, Ann Arbor Huron ruined Wayne's 1978 opener with a 69-53 victory over Schwartz' Zebras. Jumping out in front 16-9 at the end of the first period, Huron had a 33-

Churchill to host Harrison in debut

Being seriously affected by that annual malaise called graduation and with Plymouth Canton loaded to the hilt with talent, Livonia Churchill's sophomore cage coach Fred Price will probably need all the help he can get this season.

"We're an average height team," said Price after his team dropped its first game, a 55-45 decision to Farmington Friday night, hosting Farmington Harrison.

Jarnot, a 6-4 pivotman, and the Chargers had their problems against the Farmington zone.

"Our kids were hesitant to take a shot when they put up the zone against us," Price related, "but, in the same respect, we also threw a zone against them and they didn't do much against it."

Tied after the first period 12-all, Farmington had a narrow 26-24 halftime lead. Churchill fell behind by seven after three periods (41-34) but closed to within a basket, 45-43, before Jeff McGrath sank four straight baskets with 1:40 left to seal the victory for Farmington.

Dave Krick led the Chargers with 13 points and Chris Horvath was the only other Churchill eager to reach double figures. He had 10 points.

McGrath finished with 12 points, two points less than Gary Krist who was the game's leading scorer with 14.

One couldn't find more evenly matched teams than Churchill and Dearborn last Tuesday night. After the end of all four periods, the two teams were deadlocked. Each team scored 12 points in the first, third and fourth frames while tallying nine in the second period.

The Chargers won it with an 8-6 edge in the three-minute extra period as Mike Palovich sank two free throws to put the game out of reach.

Jarnot started his senior campaign with 15 points and 12 rebounds for scoring honors and Krick chipped in nine.

"I feel that one of the key reasons why we managed to pull this game out was that we controlled the boards," pointed out Price. "We outrebounded them 38-25."

And sophomore, Horvath, played a crucial role in leading the Chargers' on the boards - he nailed down 12 of those rebounds and contributed 10 points.

Tigers off to fast start

If the rest of the season goes as well for Coach Sam Vicchy and Belleville's swimmers as it did against Ypsilanti last week, the Tigers will have nothing to worry about.

Belleville launched the 1978-79 season with a lopsided 58-25 victory over arch-rivals, Ypsilanti, as the winners swept eight of the 11 first places.

Belleville has been the perennial bridesmaid to state Class A powers, Dearborn and Edsel Ford, in the Suburban 8 Conference, but this could be the year that they end Dearborn's domination of the league.

Loaded with a host of All-Area performers, the Tigers have been the team to beat at the annual Western Wayne Invitational.

"We have an excellent team," noted Vicchy, "however, we have a lot of work ahead of us in order to realize our goal."

Flying Zebras

Encountering opposition to his plans of driving for the Truman basket, Wayne's Kyle Poteau (10) settles for a personal foul when Mike Hathaway (25) comes up short in his block attempt. Airborne is Wayne's 6-5 junior pivotman Darryl Jordan (24) whose presence gave the Zebras domination of the boards and a 48-44 triumph over the defending Great Lakes 8 Conference champs.

Nibert is up to his old cage tricks at Albion

What can Albion College's John Nibert do for an encore?

The 6-5 senior center from Westland is starting his third season with the Briton basketball team, and all indications are that the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association's Most Decorated Player of a year ago is in for another outstanding season.

In leading Albion to a third place finish at the NCAA Division III finals last season, Nibert scored a school record 510 points. He was named to all-tournament teams at the regional and national level of play, and was named to a United States All-Star team which toured Mexico last April.

That's all on top of Nibert garnering team Most Valuable Player and MIAA co-MVP honors.

Nibert heads into the 1978-79 season as a team tri-captain and Coach Mike Turner has nothing but praise for him. "John has improved immensely during his four years at Albion. He was certainly very deserving of all the honors he received last year. He has outstanding jumping ability, and he's developing into an outstanding shooter. He's also an aggressive rebounder and defensive player. John is truly an outstanding MIAA basketball player."

The Britons finished the 1977-78 season with a 21-6 record and their first MIAA title since 1957. Albion's third place finish in the Division III tournament was the highest post-season finish of any Michigan college or university last winter. Albion has been pegged as the favorite for the MIAA title this season, and has been picked by Sports Illustrated as a strong possibility to return to the national finals in March.

Nibert led the Britons last year with a 18.9 point per game and 10.2 rebound per game average. In his two seasons on the varsity, John has averaged 15.9 points per game.

Nibert is a 1975 graduate of Wayne Memorial, where he won two letters in basketball under Coach Bill Hawley.

John majors in biology and physical education at Albion. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nibert, Jr., 2077 Alberta.

DNR safety clinic set

Learning to handle weapons and hunter safety will be the themes of a clinic sponsored by the Department of Natural Resources.

The clinic will be held Saturday and Sunday beginning at 9:30 a.m. with registration at the Winchester Rifle Range at Pointe Mouille. Ammunition will be provided by the DNR.

There is a $2 registration fee and those interested may obtain further information by telephoning Bert Girardin at 379-4411.

Volleyball playoff champ falls

Bee Jay's, who captured last year's Wayne women's volleyball playoff title a year ago, found La Parisien ready and willing for battle.

The champs just couldn't match the power and strategy La Parisien had established for them as Jackie Randall teamed with Audrey Basdorf, Mary Porter and Diane Johnson to turn back their rivals in three sets.

In other action, the Guess Who, led by Pat Dick, defeated Tec Air Bombers 3-0 to remain atop of Division B, while Shayam eked out a close decision over the Downs.

Paul Bosco & Sons stopped Jack's Sports Center to keep its hold on third place.

Jack's is continuing to improve with each outing thanks to the performances of Gwen Neal and Caye Martel.

At WSU

L.W. Matthews, who prepped at Romulus before switching to Wayne last year, and John Golden, a 6-5 sophomore forward from Romulus are members of Wayne State University's 1978-79 basketball team.

Matthews is a 6-0, 165-pound freshman guard, while Golden, who earned his varsity numeral a year ago, will use his 6-5, 213 pound frame as a forward for the Tartars who are considered as one of the teams to take all of the marbles in the Great Lakes Conference this season.

Canton on rampage

Chiefs hit century mark against Franklin

To its dismay, Livonia Franklin discovered why some coaches feel that Plymouth Canton's 1978 basketball team is the best in that school's history.

Canton, the pre-season favorite to sweep the Western Six Conference championship, overwhelmed Franklin 104-66 for its second consecutive victory, and it was Franklin's second straight loss.

"There's little doubt in my mind that Canton is really loaded this year," said Franklin's sophomore coach Jim McIntyre. "They played exceptionally well against us. And everything they threw up there went in, while we had one of those nights when the ball would hit the rim and bounce out."

Canton started fast as Mike Golnicki sank three quickies to lead the Chiefs to a commanding 30-19 lead. The Chiefs didn't cool after the torrid start and rang up 26 points in the next eight minutes to go ahead 56-36 at halftime.

Playing a more deliberate brand of ball after the half, Franklin managed to come back on top of a 16-14 third period, but Canton erupted in the stretch and outscored their rivals 34-12 to become the first area team to hit and go over the century mark this season.

Golnicki wound up with 21 points, the game's high, while teammate Butch King, who was an All-Area, all-conference choice a year ago, contributed 16 points to the balanced attack. Russ Mandle and Mike O'Leary split 26 points between them while Dave Visser, ex-

Franklin cage coach, Bob Visser's son, added 12. The Chiefs also had Jay McKinley in double figures with 10.

Franklin's senior center Chris Baker drilled in 16, one more than Jeff Reich. Also in double figures for the Patriots was Jon McCarthy who had 10.

Franklin came within a few seconds to taint Plymouth Salem's cage record in their season opener last Tuesday. But all-state Salem quarterback, Rich Hewlett, who is accustomed to playing the role of hero came up with a jumper with less than 15 seconds left to give the defending Suburban 8 Conference co-champs a 58-57 victory.

"I felt if we just had a couple of minutes more to play we could have pulled this one out," said Coach McIntyre.

Salem held a 16-6 lead after the first eight minutes, but Franklin came back as Baker sank six of his 20 points in the second period to narrow the margin to 27-23 at intermission. Salem made it a five-point difference with a 17-15 advantage for three periods, but the Livonians rallied to within one with a 19-14 edge for the final frame.

Baker's 20 points topped all scorers, while teammate Reich contributed 10. Salem got 16 from Hewlett and Kevin Kelihier who could become one of the top players in the state if the pieces fall into place.

Spartans begin title defense with victory over Southgate

Despite a disappointing performance against out of the league rival Westland John Glenn, Cherry Hill and Coach Dick McNally launched their defense of the Tri-River Conference basketball championship with an one-sided 73-60 triumph over Southgate.

Southgate was the lone league team to tarnish the Spartans' record a year ago.

"We're experimenting right now," pointed out McNally who lost some key players to graduation in June. "We're not clicking on five cylinders and until we come up with the right combination we're going to have to try some different things."

One of the reasons for Cherry Hill's slow start is the loss to injury of 6-3 junior Gary Williams who was being groomed to take all-stater, Tyrone Jordan's place. Williams severely sprained an ankle and isn't expected to make his way into the lineup until Dec. 16.

Meanwhile, the Spartans had more than enough to handle the meddlesome Southgate quintet which kept the outcome of the game in doubt until the third period. Cherry Hill, with Andy Simmons trigger finger as deadly as his older brother, Floyd's was a year ago, sparked the Spartans assault. Andy sank 11 field goals for 22 points and paved the way to a 18-13 first period lead. Southgate came back and closed the gap to one, 34-33, but the Spartans exploded in the third period, outscoring their arch rivals 23-8 and the game was never in doubt after that.

"I think our switch in defenses kind of confused them," said McNally, "and we began to look like a team in that second half."

Simmons' older brother, Floyd, finally looked like the player who earned all-area recognition a year ago. Lethargic in the first two outings, Floyd contributed 16 points, while Pierre Hudson chipped in 17.

Southgate's Jeff Jacuik had 15 points for the losers. Cherry Hill has a date with Schafer on Friday, its second conference meeting. The Spartans had to entertain Taylor Truman Tuesday night. Truman's coming off of a loss to Wayne Memorial.

Up to 'old tricks'

John Nibert, former Wayne Memorial cage star, picked up where he left off last year at Albion, as the 6-5 pivotman launched his senior year as a Briton starter. The MIAA co-MVP player, set a school scoring record when he compiled 510 points a year ago, and he's expected to top that mark this season when the Britons began shooting. Albion has been singled out as the team to beat in the conference and a strong possibility that it'll return to the national finals in March.

Here comes Mr. Jordan

Apparently Darryl Jordan (24) is just what Wayne needed to make it a winner. The 6-5 junior center gave Coach Steve Schwartz Zebras the necessary board strength against visiting Taylor Truman Friday night that enabled Wayne to jolt the defending champs 48-44. Jordan fed the Zebra assault on the boards and contributed six points in the victory. Wayne has another tough assignment Friday night, clashing with Taylor Center, which has rebuilt a cage machine that featured many underclassmen a year ago.

Romulus cagers 'split'

their fifth foul but the Eagles managed to hang in there until Flint guard Nate Walker opened up with a barrage of long shots that hit their target.

Walker scored 10 of his 15 points in the final eight minutes.

Bean, who sank 11 from the field and hit on three of three from the foul line had the game high of 25 points, and Casey, showing that he could be one of the top players in the area, contributed 22 points. Darryl Lewis counted 11 points.

Walker had 15 for the winners. "I also feel that our players learned a lesson about the importance of making free throws," Hanna said. "We lost the game at the line, making nine of 19 - a better performance would have given us our second victory."

Hanna described the Eagles' triumph over St. Al's Arrows "as a typical first game marred with numerous turnovers and mistakes." "There were numerous mistakes on both sides, but fortunately they made more than we did," he said. Romulus shot its way to a slim 15-14 first period lead before the Eagles opened the gap with a 26-12 edge in the next eight minutes as Richard Lewis pumped in 10 of his game high 25 points then.

Though out in front 41-26 at intermission, the Eagles had their problems breaking the Arrows' attack because of 6-7 center Dave Loshok who led his team back in the second half with seven of his 21 points in the third period. St. Al's outscored their rivals 17-11 and 16-12 in the last two periods.

Kersey contributed 15 points, Casey had 11 and Bean sacked 10 as four of the five Romulus starters made it into double figures.

2nd best

Wayne Memorial's girls basketball team wrapped up the 1978 campaign with a 6-2 record and the runners-up spot in the Great Lakes 8 Conference.

The Zebras came back after losing a close 36-32 decision to league champ, Monroe, to beat Wyandotte 48-35 and Riverview 34-33 in their final games of the season. Peggy Stevens pumped in half of her team's 32 points against Monroe and also scored 20 against Wyandotte. Teammate Beth Tracy also scored in double figures against the Bruins, getting 12.

Against Riverview, again it was Miss Stevens who led the way. She sank 14 points.

"Our loss to Fordson proved very costly," said Coach Steve Schwartz. "It cost us a share if not all of the conference championship."

the game in the fourth period because of personal fouls.

Woodhaven had a 43-39 advantage on the boards.

Huron was back in action Tuesday night, clashing with Melvindale which is coming off of a Tri-River Conference victory over Taylor Kennedy.

The Chiefs aren't scheduled to play Friday night and will return to the hardwood on Friday, Dec. 15 when they will host league rival, Grosse Ile.

Futurama caught napping

Huron Valley skates to 4-4 tie

It seems that all Huron Valley needed to put the pieces together was a victory.

Among the teams that have been slighted as possible first division finishers, Huron got its first victory a week ago and, last Sunday, caught league-leading Futurama "napping" and earned a 4-all tie over the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League pacesetter.

Huron erupted for three goals in thje first period, but the engineers rallied back after the sluggish start and Norm Hankala fired in two third period goals to help salvage the tie.

Barry Anderson accounted for two goals, Jack Bockstanz had one and John Colligan also chipped in with a goal.

Hankala finished with a hat trick to solidify his hold on the top of the individual scoring standings. Mark Lafond got the only other goal.

After giving up a goal early in the game, netminder Tom Stanke shut out Johnson Carbonic the rest of the way to help Jack's Sporting Center post a 3-1 triumph over their rivals.

The "three Jerrys" —Howley, Grube and Robertson accounted for the winner's scoring, while "Duck" Broge scored the lone Johnson goal.

Brock's Home spotted Extra Point Bar a 3-1 second period edge, then came back with three third period goals to edge their rivals 4-3 in their confrontation.

Dave Zajac connected for a pair of goals for the winners while Buddy Brock and Dave Fishwick each had one. Larry Kaifesh, Mike Villemure and Rich Mullen picked up the goals for the losers.

Four Seasons received outstanding goaltending from Larry Whicker in their 4-3 victory over Tastee Freeze.

Bill Creekmore scored two goals to pace the winners with teammates Tom Dilaura and Paul Brishi adding one apiece. The losers got single goals from Lee Callaway, Bill Ballou and Ralph Tack.

The teams get together again this Sunday when Tastee Freeze will see if Futurama is awake for its 8:30 engagement at the Westland Rink. In the nightcap at Westland, Jack's and Extra Point will mix it up at 10 p.m.

Over at the Wayne Arena, Brocks and Four Seasons start the action at 9 p.m. and the second game is scheduled for 10:30 p.m. when upstart Huron Valley will see if its newly found power is for real - it will test Johnson's Carbonic.

Games to be played on Sunday, Dec. 17, 1978.

Deadline for this week's contest is Thurs., Dec. 14, 1978.

HOW TO ENTER

1. Check each advertisement carefully for the teams playing this week's games.
2. Pick the teams you think will win from each advertisement.
3. Fill in the entry blank on this page according to the corresponding number in each advertisement.
4. When you've picked all 12 teams, find the "Tie Breaker" box and pick the number of points you think the two teams will score jointly and enter that in the space shown.
5. Clip out the entry blank and bring or mail it to the Eagle office on or before Thursday of each week by 5 p.m. (Our offices are located at 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne 48184, and at 116 Fourth St., Belleville 48111.)
6. And don't forget to check all the advertisers for great savings on many, many items. Thank you.

RULES

All entries must be in our office before 5:00 p.m. Thursday of each week. So, if you're mailing yours, fill it out well in advance. Entries may be made on facsimiles, post cards or plain sheets of paper or on official entry blanks. Copies of the newspaper are available for inspection free at our office.

Weekly prizes will be awarded to the entry picking the most winners.

One (1) $25 Winner for 1st prize

One (1) $15 Winner for 2nd prize and

One (1) $10 Winner for 3rd prize

In case of tie, the "Tie Breaker" will be in effect. If this results in a tie, the winner will be picked by a drawing. Employees of ANP and immediate families are not eligible to enter. All tie games will be scored as a wrong answer unless you have picked the game to end a tie. Each week's winners will be announced on the Sports Page of the following week.

Tradition bows to 'progressive' group

Being a rather ingenious group, the distaff side of the Shephard and Ferguson families put their heads together and planned a "different" sort of Thanksgiving for 1978.

Settling on a progressive dinner theme, they decided that the appetizer course, which included all kinds of little bite-sized morsels, cider and tomato juice, would be in the hands of Verdys Shephard and her daughter-in-law, Nancy Shephard. Held at the former's home on Elwell Road, the hors d'oeuvres bit was co-hosted by their menfolk, Art and Brian Shephard.

The group of 24, which had gathered in the usual manner — via auto, then resorted to a hay-filled wagon for transport to their next stop which was the home of Fay and Mary Ferguson on Judd Road. A fine smorgasbord of salads was prepared in the dining room with sit-down arrangements provided in the living room.

Members of the younger set — 11 of 'em — had one heckuva good time on the wagon. There were 12 bales of hay to start out with only four remaining by the end of the journey. Happy that the rain had stopped early enough to allow for roughing it were Darryl and Kimberly Shephard, Steven Dozer, Leslie, Shawn and Shari Ferguson, Julie, Janet and Brenda Bachman and Donna and Mike Ferguson.

Wending their way next to the Harris Road home of Diane and Roger Ferguson, the merry-makers had already geared their thinking to "turkey" and the big bird and all the accompanying dishes were there for the taking. Jim and Pat Shephard gave a helping hand with the main course as did Jim and Marie Dozer of Dexter . . . Marie providing all the homemade bread for the feast.

Pleasantly stuffed by then but still with a tiny space left for dessert, the clan moved onto Betty Bachman's home on Hannan Road where she and Bob Ferguson had a host of desserts — pies, gingerbread, jello, stuffed dates and prunes, etc. — for each person to satisfy his or her sweet tooth. Hot spiced cider put the caper on the festivities at which Steve and Diane Moss of Wayne were also present.

The only missing faces in an otherwise complete family picture were holiday regulars, Dick and Ivy Jahncke, who were unable to travel from Montrose due to icy road conditions. (We suspect tho' they were included in spirit more than once.)

Joe and Jan Ross, who traditionally spend Thanksgiving with his side of the family (and Christmas with hers), were host to this year's get-together which began with a co-op dinner at one thirty.

Sitting down together at the Ross home on Rawsonville Road were Tom and Clara Ross and their four children, Mark, Gayle, Kim and Greg from Toledo; John and Sandy Ross with daughters Dorothy and Ann Marie and sons Bobby and Tommy as well as the rest of the relatives from Westland, Mrs. Mary Ross and Rick and Mary Ann Adkins and son, Ronnie, and, of course, Joey and Julie Ross.

The Hills — Art and Joy of Van Allen Drive — batted a thousand with the whole family joining in their holiday festivities. Their daughter, Diane, and her husband, Gary Bodenmiller, were able to fly in from Hanover Park, Ill. and their son and daughter-in-law, Greg and Jean Hall, made it home for the holiday from Midland — the "star" of the weekend being their month-old son, Brian Jeffery.

Laurie Hill was also there with her fiancé, Kurt Cilia, as were Joy's mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hennells from just around the bend, on North Shore Drive.

The Larry Eichold family of Lenmore Drive was invited to spend the holiday with her mother, Mrs. Mary Mumford of Fret Road, as were Bill and Becky Chubb of Taylor. Other two o'clock co-op dinner guests were Kim and Mike Smithers of Ypsilanti, Debbie Eichold and her friend, Terry McLaughlin, and Jeff Eichold.

Dessert for the day included a birthday cake for Bill and Mike who had natal dates at both sides of the holiday this year.

Mrs. Daisy Thomas came in from Bitely, Mich. to spend the holiday weekend and share turkey dinner at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Jayne and Kurt Atchinson of East Huron River Drive.

Also with them for the day were Jayne's brother, Victor Thomas, and his friend, Patty, and, of course, the Atchinson boys, Todd and Craig (who, we were told, were two of the cutest elves in Saturday's welcome to Santa parade in Belleville.)

For the first time in six years, all the Hayes children were together at Thanksgiving. Gathering at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Novella Viar on Wabash Street in Romulus, the group included Mrs. Louise Hayes and children, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond L. Hayes and son, Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hayes. Still others were Mrs. Mary M. Cardenas and daughter, Tina, Mrs. Donna J. Lewis and Mrs. Hazel L. Dolph.

The Heifners — George and Maxine — left Edison Lake Road around noon on Wednesday and winged their way southward to Tennessee. At their second home in Cleveland (Tenn.), where her mother, Mrs. Jack Turtle, is avoiding Michigan's winter months, they spent the weekend and enjoyed the November 23 festivities complete with "everybody's favorites" (as Debby put it.)

Grandma Turtle also served dinner to Debby's husband, Bob Tworck; her grandson, David Duane and his wife, Judy, now of Romulus; and George's dad, G.A. Heifner of Southgate.

The young marrieds drove down, making it just in time for the three o'clock repast, then took off bright and early the following a.m. Heading for the Smokies, they finished out the weekend with camping and hiking.

The Heifner trio flew back to Metro Saturday afternoon.

Judge and Mrs. James B. Stone played to a full house Thanksgiving Day with their three sons and their wives, two daughters and their husbands and their seven grandsons circling their dinner table.

With each of the gals bringing her favorite dish, the group of 19 sat down to a small feast at five o'clock. Together for the festivities were Tom and Sandie Olenczuk with Tom, David and Steve and Jim and Peg Krizan, all of Livonia; Jim and Ann Stone and their two, Jim and Jeffrey from Northville; Tom and Monica Stone and son, Tom Scott, of Utica; and John and Judy Krizan and Matthew from Redford.

The holiday was very special for John and Marge Roberts since they had their children home in Michigan once again. Back for the first time since their move last July to Lewisville, Tex. were their daughter, Vicki, her husband, Mike Barnett, and their trio, Tytti, Connie and Michael, who'd motored north and arrived the Saturday before Thanksgiving.

Supper was planned for seven o'clock since the Texans had earlier date with Mike's family at the home of his parents, the Taft Barnetts of Harris Road.

Tom and Judy Sayre of Ypsilanti spent the day with both sets of parents. Dining first with his folks, Jim and Joanne Sayre of Morton Taylor Road, they exchanged holiday greetings with Tom's grandmother, Mrs. Glen Wales, and uncle and aunt, the David Novaks, all of Ypsilanti.

In the evening they drove to the Elwell Road home of Bill and Flo Hudge where they did a re-run of the earlier meal. Cindy, home from Michigan State University, and Mike, were also on hand for supper.

Places for 10, set in the dining room at the Bert Smith home on Edison Lake Road on Thanksgiving Day, surrounded a lovely centerpiece of mums which had been sent by their three daughters.

Joining in the four o'clock feast, which each of the women had a hand in, were Pete and Luanne Schonfeld, in for the weekend from Evanston, Ill.; Ed and Mary Anne Hudge and daughters, Nancy and Nora, from Ann Arbor; and Sue and Carol Smith, home from Western Michigan University for the holiday break.

Guests at the Smith's on Saturday afternoon were Rick and Jo Moore, college friends of Lu and Pete's, from Webster Groves, Mo.

Auburn, N. Y. was the destination immediately after school let out on Wednesday for Bill and Karen Mida of Harris Road (she teaches at St. Anthony's.)

The young couple decided to share the holiday with Bill's 80-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Viola Cooper, who makes her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Dorothy and Jerry Esken, one-time residents of this community.

The Esken's daughter, Linda, and her husband, Jim Moore, completed the family gathering.

Their posters won top prizes

Participants in the Belleville Library's "Post-a-Poster" contest produced several fine and well drawn works of art. On Nov. 20, Friends of the Library selected first and second place winning entries in three grade division. Posters were to have illustrated a favorite book read by the children. The library is pleased to announce the following winners: (from left) Robin Hardesty, 13, grade eight, second place; Teresa Weglarz, 11, grade five, first; Dawn Stansifer, nine, grade four, second; Colleen Gleason, 11, grade six, first; Holly Medley, seven, grade two, second; and Brad McClelland, seven, grade two, first. Each winner was awarded a red or blue ribbon and given books as prizes. The posters were on display in the library.

Turn your kitchen into a 'boutique'

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

"— with visions of sugarplums" in the not so distant future (there are a mere 18 shopping days left until Christmas) it's time for the culinary artists (and us plain cookin' folk) to give thought to Christmas cookery.

A recent visit to the library prompted the idea for a column strictly in the pots and pans and blenders and beaters departments.

Shoppers with the holiday "smarts" turn to their kitchens for a portion of their presents and often have the goodies prepared well in advance of the hectic season. Ingenious women had Christmas-giving in mind as far back as June when they were mixing the ingredients for strawberry jam, freezing sliced or whole berries or tossing together pies to be frozen for future use.

Add a kitchen cupboard full of homemade gems to a well-stocked freezer and you have the perfect shopping center for gifts that come from a truly giving self.

With gift-giving in mind even before that, the foresighted shopped rummage and garage sales, the dime stores and discount shops and even scrounged through those out-of-reach cabinets and cupboards for unusual containers for their products.

Inexpensive brandy snifters, wine, parfait and sherbet glasses as well as apothecary jars are ideal ways in which to "wrap" jams and jellies for special friends. Not only do they get to enjoy homemade goodness but are left with a pleasant reminder of the giver as an afterglow.

Tins for cookies seem to get prettier every year and come in all sizes and shapes — oval, circular, rectangular, octagonal, low, high, squat, skinny, cylindrical, you name it. Cookies can also be presented on a nice new teflon-lined cookie sheet which many "experienced" cooks have failed to buy since they've stayed with what they've become accustomed to all these years.

Bread boards — and speaking of different designs, you can really find some cut in unique and imaginative shapes (fruits, vegetables, animals, etc.) — are perfect for holding loaves of homemade bread, coffee cakes or rows of dinner rolls.

Candy from m'lady's kitchen can be packaged in so many different ways that it's hard to know where to start and stop. Ceramic pots for plants are one way to give two-gifts-in-one; vases can hold wrapped hard candies and tallsticks; baskets (find an interesting duck shape or horn of plenty) will hold anything that's wrapped properly. Or how about any kind of fancy crystal or glass candy dish or cake plate?

It all takes just a bit of looking around you when you're in a store or shop. Think, too, about the velvet or gingham ribbon trim, the bits of holly or mistletoe or the tiny candy canes you might use to add a decorative touch to your packaging.

So — now that we've the containers out of the way, let's get on to the nitty-gritty of the work involved. And it can be easy and quick (with mixes) or the from-scratch method which entails just a little more work and, thus, a bit more time.

In our local libraries one will find scads of cookbooks; every kind you've ever imagined and, with space allowed, we're going to delve into a few that particularly stress the holiday season.

Since we've dealt primarily with the gift end of cooking, a good place to start is with "The Gift-Giver's Cookbook" by Jane Green. On the fly leaf, Dorothy Rodgers adds an apt note which says, "Surely this book fills a need. If you like to cook and like to give, it is perfection."

In her research, Jane Green has come up with such delights as Crybabies, a drop cookie loaded with molasses, hot coffee, dark raisins and chopped walnuts. Christmas Hermits, of course, speak for themselves as does Holiday Fruit Candy which is NOT for calorie counters since it's crammed full of candied cherries and pineapple and lots of pecans, almonds and walnuts.

The table of contents lists fruit-cakes, breads, cookies, plum pudding, candy and nuts, jellies, jams, marmalades, conserves, syrups, sauces, spiced fruits and chutneys, relishes and pickles, savorys and snacks and festive beverages.

Having the ideal title for a Christmas-time tome is Mimi Sheraton's "Visions of Sugarplums" which really conjurs up all kinds of images, doesn't it? Here is a charming and comprehensive collection of cakes, cookies, candies and confections from all the countries that celebrate Christmas.

Hers are not the clever intentions of an imaginative cook but the actual traditional recipes for the merriest and most affecting of seasons.

Devonshire Brandy Pudding, Epiphany Jam Tart, Armenian Golden Wheat and Apricot Pilaff, Lebanese Crullers and Danish Advent Pretzels are but a few of the entries.

There are also the Golden Bread of Verona, Dutch Raisin Bread and Charleston Ice Cream Eggnog. Doesn't it make you want to rush right out, get the book and dash to the nearest market for the necessary ingredients? Who wouldn't love to receive some Brandy Ring Twists (they're Swedish) or Greek Honey Nut Bread from a dear friend.

If candy-making is your forte, then check out June Roth's "Old Fashioned Candymaking" and delve into such mouth watering treasures as pralines, brittles, caramels, taffy, peneche, and fudge, fudge, fudge. (Can you tell I'm MAD for fudge?)

Nostalgia buffs should be intrigued by the treasury of antique labels, line drawings, photographs and original advertisements of early candy manufacturers which share pages with the time-tested recipes.

Roll these around your tongue for a moment — Grand Opera Creams, Tiddlywinks, Cobblestone Caramels or Bon Bons (they've always intrigued me for some reason; the name more than anything.)

That's just a start and, hopefully, the few things we've mentioned will be enough to nudge you into action and to the library. That's your starting point, remember. And take a look at all the other interesting titles that share the shelves with the select few we've mentioned while you're there.

Two BHS seniors vieing for award

Two Belleville High School students were among those finishing in the top five percent of Part I of the 22nd Annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition. They now are among 1175 Michigan students competing in a final examination today, Dec. 6, according to Mrs. Beverly Polcyn, math department chairman, who has served as the high school supervisor for BHS students competing in the exam.

The two seniors vieing for the award are Charles Bullock, the son of Charles and Nancy Bullock, and Michael Kotlarczyk, the son of Steve and Joann Kotlarczyk, all of Belleville.

The competition is sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America and is designed to foster a wider interest in mathematics, to focus attention on the necessity for mathematical training in most profession and trades, and to identify and provide scholarships for capable mathematics students in the state of Michigan.

The 100 winners of the competition will be honored at the Awards Program to be held at Eastern Michigan University on Feb. 17, 1979, with half the winners receiving college scholarships. These scholarships totaled $12,250 in last year's competition. The scholarship fund includes contributions from the Burroughs Corporation, Michigan Bell, the Kuhlman Corporation and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Carol Wilson sets May 5 altar date

The engagement of their daughter, Carol Elizabeth Wilson, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wilson of 42615 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville. The bride-elect and her fiancé, Gary C. Peterson of Hinsdale, Ill., have reserved St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Ypsilanti for their May 5 altar date.

Miss Wilson, who resides at 1320 S. University, Ann Arbor, is in her final year at the University of Michigan Medical School where she will graduate next June. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, the 1972 Belleville High School alumna received a bachelor of science degree from U-M in 1975.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Peterson of Sawyer, Mich., the prospective bridegroom holds a degree in engineering earned at the University of Michigan in 1975. At the present time he is working for the Union Oil Company in Lemont, Ill.

potpourri

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The "official" start of the holiday season for yours truly (and many others of her profession, we learned) comes very pleasantly each fall when women of the media (press, radio and television) are winned and dined by the staff of Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum.

The ballroom of Lovett Hall, in all its holiday regalia, is the setting for the annual luncheon which this year soared to nearly 250. To mark the 25th year of the get-together, each guest received a sturdily-based cookie cutter shaped like a Christmas tree which had been handmade in the village tinsmith's shop. (In years past we've been gifted with delicate tree ornaments created by the glassblower, reproductions of Early American spoonholders and other glassware, bayberry candles, coffee mugs, etc.)

It's one of those occasions, though, that makes me realize I'm now among the "old-timers", this being my 15th time at playing the guest. It's always a very lovely affair with a fine menu, unique entertainment and delightful centerpieces (which go to one lucky person out of each round table for eight). And, unfortunately, the cute little tin pail holding red, white and variegated carnations, pine, holly and mock holly berries is not gracing any part of my home. Like the trio of hand-fashioned wreaths (made by the village garden expert), it went to my counterparts throughout the ballroom.

A visit to the village gift shop is always a must after the program and that's where many an object for Christmas and future gift-giving is found. This was the first year that a tour of some sort was not in the offing — guess we've seen it all. Last November we were taken via the village train to see the new additions to the complex while other autumns have found us touring the holiday-festooned homes and shops and viewing the weavers, candle dippers, ornament makers, bakers, etc., as they created their wares.

And, were you aware that Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village will chalk up 50 years of existence come mid-1979? If you've never been to either at holiday time, it's an unusual and interesting way to spend an afternoon or evening. Include dinner or luncheon, too, by all means. One warning though — the homemade bread there is dangerously delicious!

If you've not as yet become a "list maker", now is the time to join the other addicts at work. My kitchen counters, refrigerator doors, handbags (and sometimes cupboard doors, too) are virtual treasures of lists (one brother says he loves to come to my house and "read the walls.")

There's just something about lists, though, that make you feel good. On composing them, you can convince yourself that you'll suddenly become the Bionic Woman. And, on completing each resolution, you get that tremendous feeling of accomplishment. Just crossing off one wee item gives that old tired bod a real lift.

My current lists come under the headings of "buy", "make" and "do" and include all the necessary wrappings, cards, candles, trims, special ingredients for the cook-bake session, etc. under "buy".

Then there are all the goodies I'm planning to make for the gangs at my two offices, BG's place, for friends and for our own consumption during the coming weeks (cookies, candies, breads, snacks, spiced tea) under the "make" category.

"Do" encompasses just about everything else — finish shopping... wrap gifts... address and send cards... write letters... polish silver... order turkey, ham... and the et-cetera with which all homemakers are familiar.

The handbag contains a wealth of information, all of it top secret at the moment. The lists our three daughters have compiled are at one end of the notebook and the presents I've managed to find at the other. It also includes my own ideas for each one's stockings (and I'm going overboard again. Help! I need giant-sized receptacles anymore. Liners for trasheans, perhaps?) I really HAVE found some novel stuffers this year and only wish I could share my ideas with you. But those gals of mine also read the paper you know.

Hey, if Gena Rowlands doesn't win an Emmy nomination for her performance in "A Question of Love", I will admit to being very low on the talent-judging totem pole. Everyone I talked with agreed that she did one heckuva job in a very touchy role!

Do you have a pet peeve? LOTS of 'em, you answer. Well, join the club — there wasn't a soul I queried at a recent meeting that didn't admit to not merely ONE but several irritations that amount to a whole of teeth gritting, tongue biting and restraint of some sort. Coin jiggers... gum crackers... nose sniffers... feet draggers... horn honkers... cigar smokers... finger drummers... knuckle crackers... nail biters... coffee slurpers... were but a few of the annoyances mentioned.

Then there was being put "on hold"... being ignored by waiters or waitresses... being hustled by salesmen in men's shops... waiting for RSVP's that never come... being interrupted at dinnertime by telephone solicitors... being treated rudely by uppity saleswomen in specialty shops because you don't happen to look like you made the 10 best dressed women list... being treated to a recital of "how I removed the yellow wax buildup from my kitchen floor"... being taken for granted... waiting for those perennially-late people.

The list goes on... and on.

What really prompted the above gripes item was one of my own — the time wasted LOOKING for something. Such was the case the day after Thanksgiving when, on opening the warming oven, we heard a ping and immediately surmised the bottom screw had worked itself loose and fallen out again.

Well — since we were in the process of "cleaning up", there were a couple sacks of debris ready to be given the heave-ho — right below and in the immediate vicinity of said-door. On scouring the kitchen floor and adjoining doorways we came up with nothing more than crumbs, dust curls and even more evidence of the holiday but, no screw.

So what remained? Those two jam-packed bags of gunk! We'd already wasted precious minutes of our "Blue Chip" game which Pete had all laid out in the family room. Poor Lu had to be the one who opened the door in the first place and heard the screw "clink" so she had the dubious honor of joining her dad and me in pickin' thru the litter. I'm sure you don't need any details on what we went through, not once but twice, so I'll just say that the good half hour we blew on that little jobby was an utter waste.

We only persevered because it was a made-to-order screw for that particular stove — not something you merely pick up at the hardware. So BG took the door off and on Monday set off with the companion screw to order a replacement, only to be told he needed the model number of the range. Well — doesn't everyone one just automatically KNOW where to find that number? Why, on the back or bottom of the appliance, where else?

Fun and games! And such a stupid waste of leisure time!

Several local couples, who comprise one family unit, decided to try something different at Thanksgiving time. Read about how the Shephard-Ferguson clans spent their turkey day (elsewhere on the Suburban Living pages.) Sounds like a fun time!

Had a call from a 'potpourri' reader asking that we double check the ingredients for the Mexican Wedding Cake we ran a couple weeks back — whether or not we'd left out the shortening. Verified the printed recipe against the original and it jibed.

The question, having stirred my own curiosity, prompted me to call the donor but with no luck. BUT — a short time later, Leona (our C. of C. pal) happened to mention she'd just made the cake but had not as yet cut into it; that she'd let me know how it fared with her family.

Called her house tonight (it's last Thursday to you); Leona was out but daughter Janet said the cake was really delicious and she ate way too much of it.

A later call from Ray Van B. (the man of the house) further attested to its goodness.

So — for anyone else with a doubt or question, there's a kitchen-tested testimonial for you. And for the reader who took the time to call, hope this helps.

MESSAGE TO VALTER: Stopped at your favorite produce stand in Dearborn yesterday and came away with some of those "good old" super mushrooms. Not ten pounds, as you'd have ordered, but a nice selection in all sizes. You're right, Valter, that's the place for the freshest, firmest mushrooms.

THE BOTTOM LINE: If you go, you owe! (Appropos not only to the holiday season but all year long.)

Florida vacationers return for holiday

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

Mrs. Henry Potter of Liberty Street returned home on Tuesday, Nov. 21, after having spent 10 days at North Palm Beach, Fla. with a friend, Mrs. Margaret Bowles. She arrived home in time to enjoy the holiday dinner with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Le Moine and family of Livonia.

Another Liberty Street resident, Mrs. Muriel Smith, returned home Wednesday, Nov. 22 from Florida where she and a Romulus friend, Mrs. Emily McNutt, had spent two weeks with the latter's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Polenz, at Ft. Lauderdale.

They also visited a former Liberty Street resident, Mrs. Betty Fulton at North Lauderdale, and a friend, Mrs. Agnes Martin at Tampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Smith and Mrs. Caryl Smith of Tyler Road enjoyed their holiday dinner with the former Mrs. Smith's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bienicki at Maybee.

On Sunday, Nov. 19, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hamilton of East Huron River Drive entertained at dinner members of both their families in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. The 22 members present enjoyed looking at colored slides and other pictures taken at their wedding and a pleasant evening of visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Parker and son, John, of the South Service Drive and John's friend, Pat Doyle of East Huron River Drive, spent the holiday weekend at their cabin at Glennie Lake.

Mrs. S.C. Pierman of East Huron River Drive spent the holiday weekend at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lewis Pierman, at Ottawa, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Scott Preuninger of Ypsilanti and, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ransom of West Huron River Drive joined them for dinner on Thursday.

Mrs. Sherman Mann of Wayne was a caller Wednesday at the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell Street.

Mrs. Clarence Carnahan of East Huron River Drive spent Wednesday with her sister, Mrs. Earl Wright; her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Sparrow; and a niece, Mrs. Paul Hanson, all from Willis.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quinley of Sumpter Road have returned home after spending two weeks at their Mecosta home.

After having been a surgical patient at Beyer Memorial Hospital for several days Mrs. Warren Hatch was able to return to her home on Church Street on Friday, Nov. 24.

Callers in the afternoon were members of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mc Coy, daughters, Melissa and Amy of Ann Arbor, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael McCoy and son, Geoffrey, from Huntington, Conn.

Lynn Saunders and son, Jeffrey, of Fraser, spent the weekend as guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street.

Mrs. R.G. Atyeo of Church Street spent the holiday weekend at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lent-Koop of Dearborn.

Mrs. Myrtle Wells of Sumpter Road entertained members of the Senior Citizens' band, the "Kitchen Belles", at a pre-Christmas party Monday evening, Nov. 27. Those present enjoyed a salad and dessert lunch after which games were played and each was presented with a handmade flower.

Paula Dolph of Pittsburg, Pa., spent the holiday weekend with her parents, the Albert Dolphs, of Edgar Street. Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Dolph and son, Jeff, of West Huron River Drive joined the family for Thanksgiving dinner.

Relatives from Ohio, Mrs. Dale Starkey of Napoleon and Harold Watson of Defiance, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson of Elwell Road to Frankenmuth and Caro last weekend where they were guests of the Dennis Wilson family.

Guests for the Thanksgiving holiday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. McKelvey of East Huron River Drive were members of the former's family, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKelvey and son, Ron, of Bemis Road, the Glenn McKelvey family from Flushing, the Richard McKelvey family from Romulus, and Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Roberts of High Street.

Word has been received here by friends that Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hopeman are now back in there home at Kingman, Ariz. where he is recovering nicely from major surgery performed at Ford Hospital in Detroit.

Several members of the Western Wayne County Teachers' Book Club enjoyed dinner at Bill Knapp's on Saturday, Nov. 25, and then later toured the Hoover Mansion in Ann Arbor.

Rock-a-Thon nets $422.40 for Olympics

The Rock-A-Thon held recently at Metro Mall in Wayne was a big success, according to Bonnie Tieppo, president of the Romulus Business Office Education Club (BOEC), which sponsored the event.

The November event realized a profit of $422.40 from donations and pledges. All proceeds will go to the Special Olympics (for handicapped children.)

The BOEC would like to thank all those who donated, rocked, ran and those who supported the Rock-A-Thon and made it a success.

NO-BAKE HOLIDAY ORANGE BALLS

1 pkg. (7/8-1/4 oz.) vanilla wafers, finely crushed
3/4 cup grated coconut
3/4 cup confectioners sugar
1/2 cup frozen orange juice concentrate, undiluted

Mix wafer crumbs, coconut and sugar. Add undiluted orange juice concentrate and mix well. Form into 1-inch balls. Roll the balls in additional confectioners sugar. Store in covered container. Makes about 3 dozen.

PEPPERMINTSTICKS

2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 cup soft butter or oleo
1 egg, separated
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces

1/2 cup crushed peppermint candy
In large mixing bowl, combine flour, sugar, butter, egg yolk and vanilla; blend well. Stir in chocolate pieces. Spread in ungreased 15x10 jelly roll pan. Beat egg white until frothy; brush over bars. Sprinkle candy over bars. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes until golden brown. Cool slightly; cut into bars. Makes 40.

CHRISTMAS FRUIT SQUARES

1/2 cup butter or oleo (1 stick)
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 Tbl. grated orange peel
1 tsp. vanilla
2 1/2 cups flour
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup orange juice
1 1/2 cups mincemeat

In mixing bowl cream butter; add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time; add orange peel and vanilla. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with orange juice. Stir in mincemeat. Spread evenly in 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1 inch buttered jelly roll pan. Bake in 375 degree oven for 20 minutes. Cool. Spread with browned butter frosting. Cut into squares. Makes 4 dozen.

COFFEE-WALNUT WANDS

1/2 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 cup whipping cream
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt

2 tps. instant coffee powder
Two-thirds cup chopped walnuts

Cream butter and brown sugar until fluffy. Blend in cream. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and coffee powder; stir in. Chill several hours. Shape into "wands" about 3" long, 1/2" in diameter. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets at 375 degrees, 10 to 12 minutes. Cool on racks. Dip one end of each "wand" in chocolate frosting, then in nuts. Makes 48.

by Doug Brown

A large room is certainly needed to accommodate two pianos, but there has been some beautiful music written specifically for two pianos. The first examples were written in the Elizabethan period, the sixteenth century. Most of the time the performers would be solo pianists who played together only on a given piece, an activity that required a tremendous amount of coordination and timing, but in the 1860's teams started playing exclusively piano duos, and some composers devoted themselves to writing for this kind of performance. The most exciting performances, however, were when two individually famous performers performed together and tried to prove how good they were to one another.

For a name synonymous with musical quality... DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, 941-8484 invites you to come by and feel free to browse around. We are very knowledgeable in the music world so ask us any questions you have about the instruments we carry. We are a Lowry dealer and have many models available at all times. New York's Eglevsky Ballet Broadway's 'Side by Side' revue comes to Detroit

A dazzling kaleidoscope of Stephen Sondheim's greatest songs will be presented in the Broadway hit "Side By Side By Sondheim" at Detroit's Music Hall Center. Starring world renowned comedienne, Hermione Gingold, this musical comedy revue opens Dec. 12.

"Side By Side By Sondheim" consists of more than 30 musical numbers of Stephen Sondheim who has been called the reigning composer-lyricist of the contemporary American musical theatre. Songs from "A Little Night Music" and "Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" include both words and music by Sondheim. Other numbers from hits such as "West Side Story" and "Gypsy" have lyrics by Sondheim and music by Leonard Bernstein, Jule Styne and Richard Rodgers.

Produced by Harold Prince, "Side By Side By Sondheim" is "a dream of a show." It was a smashing success in London and Canada, and has won rave reviews in every city it has played in the U.S. including Los Angeles, Chicago and Ft. Lauderdale.

As narrator of the show, Hermione Gingold starred in "Side By Side" on Broadway, in London and on tour. Besides her stage work, Miss Gingold is well known to moviegoers for her role as the good witch in "Bell, Book and Candle," as Paul Ford's wife in "The Music Man" and for her memorable performance with Maurice Chevalier in "Gigi" which won her the Hollywood Golden Globe Award.

Singing and dancing with Miss Gingold are Jack Blackton and Barbara Heuman, both of whom starred in "Side By Side" on Broadway, and Stephanie Cottrill who has been acclaimed for her one-woman nightclub shows in New York, as well as numerous roles with the New York Shakespeare Festival. Together these four artists, accompanied by two pianists, present an entertaining musical show.

"Side By Side By Sondheim" runs from Dec. 12 through 17 with evening performances on Tuesday through Thursday at 8:30 p.m., Friday at 7 and 10:30 p.m., Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 6:30 p.m. The Saturday matinee begins at 2 p.m.

Tickets are available at the Music Hall Box Office, 350 Madison Avenue, or by calling 963-7680 between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. For group rates, call Joan Heidt at 963-7622.

Music Hall will present ballet troupe's 'Nutcracker'

New York's Eglevsky Ballet, the definitive "Nutcracker" dance company, will present 27 performances of Tchaikovsky's traditional holiday delight during December, and eight of those performances will be in Detroit's historic Music Hall Center starting Dec. 6.

Ingrid Fraley, a lead dancer with the Joffrey Ballet and former lead dancer with the American Ballet Theatre and the San Francisco Ballet, will be a special guest artist in the Detroit performances and will dance the role of the Sugar Plum Fairy.

This is the fifth straight year the 35-member Eglevsky company has been invited to tour cities throughout the East with their magnificent production of "The Nutcracker."

Clive Barnes in the New York Times wrote: "the production has an efficiency that adults should relish and a brightness that children should adore." William Barber of the Long Island Press reported: "Each year this magical treat becomes more of a joy to see and experience. As always, the Eglevsky production is topflight artistry, from the excellent technical work to the superb dancing."

The Eglevsky Ballet was formed in 1961 by the late Andre Eglevsky and his ballerina wife Leda Anchutina Eglevsky. For more than 30 years, Andre had ruled the dance world as a headliner with such companies as the American Ballet Theatre, the New York City Ballet and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. He partnered all the star ballerinas of the day including Alicia Markova, Maria Tallchief and Alicia Alonso.

Since forming their own company, the Eglevskys have nurtured and showcased such talents as Gelsey Kirkland, Patricia McBride and Jean-Pierre Bonnefous. Even the great Mikhail Baryshnikov came to Andre for coaching when he was preparing to dance a Nijinsky role.

The company is dedicated to perfecting and performing the classic ballets and "The Nutcracker" is their masterpiece. They have invested thousands of hours and hundreds of thousands of dollars in this lavish production that requires two 42-foot truck trailers just to bring the costumes and sets.

Because of "The Nutcracker's" special appeal to the young, the Music Hall is admitting children 12 and under at half price, and has scheduled special matinees at 1 p.m. on Dec. 7 and at 2 p.m. on the following Saturday and Sunday. Evening performances are at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday and at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets can be obtained at the box office at 350 Madison Avenue, or by calling 963-7680. Box office hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 12 noon to 6 p.m. Saturdays. Special group rates can be obtained from Joan Heidt at 963-7622.

Institute's gallery features area artist

Edna Reindel, Detroit-born artist whose professional career began in the 1920s, has been "rediscovered" by the Art Rental Gallery of the Detroit Institute of Arts where her work will be featured through Jan. 7.

The Art Rental Gallery will display paintings, drawings and prints by the artist.

Ms. Reindel's early work was realistic, later, surrealist and, today, she concentrates on more abstract collages. She lives in Southfield, after long residence in California.

Born in 1900, she studied at the Pratt Institute (New York) and, in the 1930s and '40s enjoyed six one-person shows at the famous Macbeth Gallery in New York City. Her work has been in numerous group exhibitions including Carnegie Institute Annuals (1937 through 1949), Whitney Museum Annuals, the Corcoran Gallery, Worcester Art Museum and Art Institute of Chicago.

Major museums own Ms. Reindel's work — the Whitney, the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts. Private collectors include the Maharajah of Indore, Greer Garson and Mrs. Spencer Tracy.

Her earliest awards were Tiffany Foundation Fellowships yearly from 1926 through 1931; the most recent was a Huntington Hartford Foundation Fellowship in 1960.

Ms. Reindel's diverse commissions have included murals, as well as illustrations for books by Edna Ferber, Selma Lagerlof, Booth Tarkington and Carl Sandburg through major publishers between 1924-1938.

The Edna Reindel show may be seen in the Art Rental Gallery during regular museum hours — Tuesday through Sunday 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. (closed Mondays and holidays).

The Gallery's business hours are 12 noon to 4:45 p.m. all open days. It offers 900 original paintings, prints and sculpture by Michigan artists.

EMU choir presents Festival of Lessons

Eastern Michigan University's Choir will offer its 19th presentation of the Festival of Lessons and Carols on Sunday at 8 p.m. in Pease Auditorium on the EMU campus.

The Festival of Lessons and Carols is adapted from the traditional Christmas Eve celebration of King's College Chapel in Cambridge, England, and is sponsored by the University Choir, the United Campus Ministries and the Office of Campus Life.

Organist for the performance will be Dr. Mary Ida Yost, associate professor of music at EMU. Festival chaplain will be The Rev. Robert E. Beyer, University Lutheran Chapel of the Resurrection, while lecturers will be Maryanne Raynor and the Rev. Paul O'Connor, both of Holy Trinity Chapel.

The processional hymn will be "O Come, All Ye Faithful."

Among the works to be performed as part of the nine lessons are: "O Magnum Mysterium" by William Byrd, "Virga Jesse Floruit" by Anton Bruckner, "Lo How A Rose 'Ere Blooming" by Michael Praetorius and "O Harkken Ye" by Alfred Burt.

Also to be performed are "Song of the Virgin," a traditional Mennonite carol, "Hodie Christus Natus Est" by Jan P. Sweelinck; "Glory to God" from "The Messiah" by G.F. Handel, "Masters in This Hall" from "Ancient Christmas Carols" by Edmund Sedding, and "Halleluiah."

Village, museum recapture spirits of Christmas past

Mistletoe and holly, carolers and horse-drawn sleighs, garlanded homes and decorated trees are all a part of the traditional "Christmas at Greenfield Village" and "Christmas at Henry Ford Museum."

Throughout December these traditions continue, along with a new theme in Henry Ford Museum, "Toys Around the Christmas Tree." A dozen exhibition cases, placed around a traditionally decorated Christmas tree, feature an extensive selection of children's toys spanning 200 years. Three cases of dolls range from early hand-carved models to nut-faced dolls and china-head creations. Other cases highlight early cast iron action banks, clock-work mechanism toys, educational games from bygone days, miniature doll house furniture and early pull-toys.

Along with the special toy exhibition, a dozen crafts are in operation along the Street of Shops.

Traditional Christmas crafts are highlighted, including wreath making, quilting and the making of toys and miniature furniture.

Charles Dickens' classic "A Christmas Carol" is presented by the Greenfield Village Players in Henry Ford Museum Theater at 2 p.m. Dec. 9, 16 and 26 through 31.

During the week, performances of various early musical instruments are offered in the Musical Instrument Gallery, and music recorded from many of the instruments plays throughout the day during weekends.

"Christmas at Greenfield Village" offers carolers, the aroma of Christmas cooking and the opportunity to observe Yuletide decorations which span 300 years.

The decorations in the village range from the simple table setting in the Connecticut saltbox house to the lavish meal prepared at the Susquehanna, Md., plantation home, complete with roast pig on the table and wild turkey hanging in the kitchen.

America's changing traditions are reflected in the decorations at the 1860s Henry Ford birthplace and the Wright brothers' home. Two additional homes are decorated for the first time this year — the George Adams birthplace and the John Chapman house.

Weather permitting, the village also offers (for a nominal price) horsedrawn sleigh rides and a shuttle service from the Gatehouse to the Town Hall area.

Tickets for "A Christmas Carol" are available at the box office before each performance or in advance at the museum entrance. Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.75 for children under 12.

There is no additional charge for "Christmas at Greenfield Village" or "Christmas at Henry Ford Museum" beyond regular admission, which is separate for both village and museum. Each admission is $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for children 6-12. Children under 6 are admitted free.

During the week of Dec. 26-31, a "Special Combination Holiday Discount Ticket" is available, offering admission to both village and museum for $6.25 for adults and $2.50 for children.

Long ago

A mincemeat pie—or coffin as it was called then because of the shape of the pan—is just a part of the holiday period setting Greenfield Village's Susquehanna plantation house offers this holiday season. Throughout December, many of the historic homes in the village will come alive with examples of early American holiday cooking and table decorations.

'Ring' cast is set

Terence Kilburn has announced the cast for the romantic fantasy, "Ring Round the Moon", which will open a four-week run at the Meadow Brook Theatre tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. on the Oakland University campus near Rochester.

Written by one of France's most acclaimed playwrights, Jean Anouilh, and adapted by English playwright Christopher Fry, "Ring Round the Moon" can be described as a sophisticated fairy tale. The story takes place in 1912 in the sumptuous setting of a French chateau.

The dowager of the house injects a bit of romantic intrigue into the listless lives of her twin nephews and her niece by assembling a bizarre group of guests at a formal ball.

Polly Rowles, who scored a triumph at Meadow Brook two seasons ago as Mrs. Fisher in "The Show-Off", will portray the imperious dowager-hostess. Michael Tylo, a newcomer to Meadow Brook, will play the dual roles of the twins.

Tickets for all Meadow Brook Theatre performances may be purchased by calling 377-3300, the Meadow Brook Theatre box office.

As a supplement to your other retirement income, Standard Federal Savings offers two retirement plans which are tax-deductible and tax-sheltered.

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS

- Regular IRA — is a plan which you contribute to for your own retirement. You are permitted to contribute up to 15% of your compensation (to a maximum of $1,500) to a regular IRA each year. The amount set aside is tax-deductible and the interest earned is tax-deferred until retirement, when you are usually in a lower tax bracket.
- Spouses IRA — is an alternative plan which you as an employed IRA participant can establish for your non-employed spouse who has received no wages during any part of the year. Contributions up to $1,750 or 15% of the working spouse's compensation, whichever is less, are permitted. The amount contributed should be equally divided between your account and that of your spouse.

- Rollover IRA — this plan allows you to contribute all or a portion of the lump-sum benefits received from another retirement plan to a "rollover" IRA. Taxation would be deferred until retirement years. For example, if you terminated employment with one employer and had vested benefits from employer contributions distributed to you in a lump sum, these contributions can be transferred to a "rollover" IRA. You must deposit to the Rollover IRA within 60 days of the date the funds were received. You may also transfer funds from a regular IRA established elsewhere to an IRA with Standard Federal Savings.

KEOGH PLAN

You as a self-employed person may set aside tax-sheltered dollars up to $7,500 each year, or 15% of your earned income, whichever is less. The amount set aside is tax-deductible and the interest earned is tax-deferred until retirement. Income taxes on both principal and interest are payable only when benefits are withdrawn from your account when you become eligible, and are usually in a lower tax bracket.

EACH PARTICIPANT IN AN IRA/KEOGH PLAN IS INSURED TO $100,000!

EARN
PER ANNUM

Retirement Accounts are available with 8% annual interest and terms from three to eight years. With quarterly compounding, your retirement plan contributions would yield 8.24%. Other terms and interest rates are also available. Call 643-9600 (Ext. 216) for a free brochure and complete details.

LEGAL NOTICES

To the Supervisor and Clerk of the Township of Canton, Wayne County, Michigan.

Sirs: You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held on October 26, 1978, decide and determine that the certain street described in the minutes of said Board should be a County road under the jurisdiction of the Board of County Road Commissioners. The minutes of said meeting fully describing said street are hereby made a part of this notice, and are as follows: Minutes of the regular meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, held at the Board's offices, 415 Clifford Street, Detroit, Michigan, at 9:00 A.M., Eastern Standard Time, Thursday, October 26, 1978. Present: Chairman Berry, Vice-Chairman Herron, and Commissioner Burton.

"Commissioner Herron moved the adoption of the following resolution: BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan that it hereby accepts the dedication to the use of the public of the following described roads and they are hereby taken over as county roads and made a part of the county road system of the County of Wayne:

That part of Aberdeen Blvd. (Formerly Donald Blvd.) 75 feet wide which lies between the north line of Salt Rd. (Formerly Marquette Ave.) 86 feet wide and the south line of Keystone Ave. (Formerly Gladstone Ave.) 40 feet wide, excepting the West 10 feet and the East 5 feet thereof, said Aberdeen Blvd. having been dedicated to the use of the public in "MCINTYRE GARDENS," a subdivision of the W. 1/2 of the N.W. 1/4 Section 14, T.25., R.8E., Canton Twp., Wayne Co., Michigan, as recorded in Liber 61 of Plats on Page 71 and also said Aberdeen Blvd. subsequently having been vacated by resolution of the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners on October 5, 1972, recorded in Liber 18245, Deeds, on Page 518, Wayne County Records.

The motion was supported by Commissioner Burton and carried by the following vote: Ayes: Commissioners Herron, Burton and Berry. Nays: None."

THIS NOTICE IS GIVEN UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF ACT NO. 283 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1909, AS AMENDED. In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Detroit, Michigan this 20th day of November, A.D. 1978.
